SENATOR VEST IS HEARD FROM.

He Gives a Clear and Striking Statement of His Views.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION.

It Is Vital to the Country's Prosperity and Missouri Should Speak in No Uncertain Tones.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

SWEET SPRINGS, Mo., June 25.—Senator Vest is stopping at his cottage near this place. He was seen to-day by a Post-Dispatch representative and consented to give an interview on the money question in its relation to the country as a whole and especially to Missouri. He said:

"There must be a settlement of the silver question without equivocation. We must determine to adopt the gold standard permanently, retire the greenbacks and perpetuate the National banks with their paper based exclusively on gold, or we must open our mints to silver.

"I fully appreciate the gravity of the consequences which will come from the free coinage of silver. The money power of the world is against silver as standard money, and it will be discredited in every way possible. The threat is constantly made that what we demand, either gold or silver or commodities. If the balance of trade is in our favor we can demand gold, and it must be paid.

"When we abandoned the single gold standard in 1873, and enacted the Bland-Allison law, we were told that gold would at once leave this country and that under the Gresham rule it would disappear. Mr. Sherman declared that the coinage of silver would expel gold as certainly as the operation of the planetary system. What is the record?

"In 1878 when silver coinage was resumed the Treasury had $128,460,303 in gold. In 1890 when the law was repealed, the gold in the Treasury had increased to $321,612,424. The explanation is found in the fact that from 1878 to 1890, with the exception of 1888 and 1889, the balance of trade was in our favor, and was paid in gold.

"Mr. Carlisle says that if the closing of the mints of Germany and France to silver caused its depreciation, the co-operation of those countries is necessary now to restore its parity. In other words, the United States must abjectly surrender what it believes to be for the best interests of its own people and of the masses throughout the world. Our fathers did not argue this way, nor have our English relatives. England demonetized silver in 1816 without consulting any other country, and has doggedly persisted in that policy until now the world is financially at her feet.

"I have no words of reproach for those who differ with me on this question, for I recognize the tremendous power of environment and association which has lately shown itself in the spectacle of our highest judicial tribunal reversing three deliberate opinions in order to prevent an income tax. The doctrine of stare decisis was swept away when the wealth of the country was about to be forced to pay in proportion to making the same fight that our fathers made when led by Jefferson and Jackson, and we will bequeath it to our children.

"This country, situated between the gold countries of Europe and the silver-using East, has now the great opportunity of becoming the commercial and financial mistress of the world. By maintaining both gold and silver as standard money we can trade with all countries in the money they may choose as a medium of exchange. With silver demonetized and gold as the single standard, we are the financial serfs of England."

When asked his opinion about calling a State convention of the Democratic party in Missouri to consider the silver question, Senator Vest said that he believed a majority of the party desired a convention, and he assumed that the State Committee would obey the demand of the majority. The matter has gone so far that more irritation would come from the refusal to call a convention than from anything the convention could possibly do. There is nothing so odious to the average Democrat as the suspicion that the majority is prevented from controlling the policy and destiny of our party. If the Democrats of Missouri wish to meet in convention for any purpose they have a right to do so, and I believe the denial of this right would be most disastrous.

"I do not know that I shall attend the convention, if in the State, for one of its objects has been published to be the consideration of the action of the State's delegation in Congress on the silver question. While I believe that I correctly represented a majority of my constituents in what I did and said, and have no apology nor retraction to make, I should hesitate about soliciting favorable action by a convention as to my course. I would prefer that the Democrats of the State, who are thoroughly acquainted with my opinions and conduct, should express their views in regard to my record without any suggestions from me.

"In any event, absent or present, in the Senate or out of it, I am against the single gold standard."

free coinage will bring this country to an exclusively silver basis and that gold will disappear. It is said by the prophets of evil that all our indebtedness held by foreigners will be sent here for payment and that no more foreign capital will be loaned in the United States.

"All this sounds badly, but I hardly think the consequences are quite so deplorable as represented. In the first place, the financial servitude which now exists on the part of the United States to foreigners should cease. Nothing could be more degrading than present conditions. The first inquiry each morning in Wall Street is as to prices in England, and we are paying more than $9,000,000 to a foreign syndicate to protect the gold reserve in the Treasury. When the contract of this syndicate is terminated in October, we must pay another bonus, and so on, indefinitely. Mr. Carlisle tells us that this situation is being seriously considered by the Cabinet, but his only remedy is to retire the $346,000,000 of greenbacks, sell more bonds for gold and refuse coinage even to the silver seigniorage now in the Treasury.

"The President will not agree to the coinage of another silver dollar, but insists that the money volume must be diminished $346,000,000 by retiring the greenbacks, and that Congress shall authorize the issue of gold bonds in order to maintain the single gold standard. As I said in the Senate, we have come to the parting of the ways, and must take one road or the other. We must again declare our independence or allow England to control this country.

"As to the threat that gold will leave us, I have only to say that even if it did, I would prefer that contingency to present conditions. I believe in real bimetallism, the use of both gold and silver as standard money, but if we must have one metal or the other, I would take silver, for we would then at least be independent instead of being the tail of the English kite, and the helpless victim of the Rothchilds syndicate. Ninety-six per cent of our whole commerce is at home, and that would continue even on a silver basis.

"I do not believe, however, that gold will leave this country. Gold will come to any people who produce a surplus of the necessaries of life. There is no sentiment in finance nor commerce. The legal tender money of every country is worth everywhere what that country's surplus of necessaries is worth. England buys from us what she must have, and must pay us the protection it receives from the general government.

"In the East every friend of free coinage is called a Populist or Socialist, and the movement to reinstate silver is termed 'the silver craze.' 'The recent rise in the price of wheat settles the silver question,' said a prominent New York gold man the other day, 'and the craze is dying out.' As if the Western people do not understand the manipulations of the wheat pit, and the corners and combines which control prices.

"The gold worshippers underrate the intelligence of the people and totally misunderstand the animus of those who advocate silver coinage. They cannot settle this question by denouncing 'the silver craze' and talking about 'honest money.'

"If silver is depreciated, the men who demonetized it in 1873 are responsible. Their excuse for opposing silver now is that there is too much of it. In 1872 there had been coined but 8,000,000 silver dollars, and silver was at a premium over gold. Why was it demonetized? Who demanded it? The answer can be found in the proceedings of the Monetary Conference at Paris in 1869, when Mr. Sherman sent a letter to Mr. Ruggles, who represented this country, stating that the United States was anxious and ready for the gold standard. It was not true. But the money lenders of Europe had determined on the gold standard and Mr. Sherman was ready to help them.

"All sorts of misrepresentation, together with the power of money and official patronage, are being used to place this country permanently on the gold standard.

"I have lately seen an absurd statement that if the mints here are opened to silver, we will be flooded with $1,000,000,000 in silver from India, $725,000,000 from China, $90,000,000 from Japan and from Spain, Mexico and the straits $400,000,000.

"This statement is made in face of the established fact that the East is the grave of silver, and while the demand continues from year to year, no silver ever comes back from those countries. England is now vainly attempting to force the gold standard on India by the bayonet, and the best financiers regard the effort as desperate.

"It may as well be understood at once that all this clap-trap and misstatement will not divert a majority of the people from stern and unyielding opposition to the single gold standard. It is the old fight—old as our race—between the masses and those who attempt to use governmental power for self aggrandizement. We are

SOCIETY GIRL'S SUICIDE.

Wealthy Miss Pleassie Culbertson Drowns Herself in a Cistern.

TOULON, Ill., June 25.—Miss Pleassie Culbertson, a prominent society girl of this place, committed suicide to-day, her body being found in a shallow cistern at her mother's home. Miss Culbertson had been ill for several days, and is supposed to have drowned herself while temporarily insane. She must have lain down in order to get her head under water. Miss Culbertson was a beautiful young woman, highly educated, and was one of the wealthiest women in Central Illinois, having recently been left a large fortune by her grandfather.

Laura Moore Attempts to Save Lillie and Is Shot With Her.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 25.—Lillie and Laura Moore, daughters of a farmer in the mountains of Rabun County, were killed yesterday by their cousin, Seymour Keener, who for four years had been enamored of the former, but whose advances had been refused. When he met them yesterday he started to shoot the elder sister, when the younger clasped her arms about her and begged for her life. Not being able to get them apart, Keener shot both sisters. Keener was arrested only after desperate resistance.

TO HARBOR THE INSANE.

Dedicatory Exercises at the New St. Vincent's Asylum.

BUILT ON ADVANCED PLANS.

The Institution Is Luxuriously Furnished, Is Half a Mile in Circumference and Cost $500,000.

The new St. Vincent Institute for the Insane at Mount St. Vincent, on the Wabash, between Eden and Huntley Stations, was formally opened Tuesday. The edifice is the largest of its kind in the State and was completed at a cost of over $500,000. It is half a mile in circumference, has accommodations for 800 or, at a pinch, 1,000 patients and is surrounded by ninety-seven acres of farm land and woods.

The first order of the day was the dedication of the chapel at 9 o'clock by Archbishop Kain. He was assisted by a large number of priests and the ceremony was witnessed by many persons who had received the invitations necessary for admission. Some of the sisters from the old asylum at Ninth and Marion streets were in the part of the chapel reserved for them.

After the dedication solemn high mass coram episcopo, that is, before the archbishop, was celebrated. Very Rev. Robert Lennon, C. M., of Emmetsburg, Md., Provincial of the Sisters of Charity in the United States, was celebrant. The officers of the mass were Rev. J. J. McCabe, deacon, Rev. J. Schaefer, sub-deacon; Rev. O. J. McDonald, master of ceremonies. During the mass, Rev. F. Arthur O'Reilly preached to a large crowd of people assembled on the grounds, who had not tickets of admission and could not be accommodated in the church.

In the afternoon, at 1 o'clock, a banquet was spread for 200 guests in the community dining-hall. Priests, lawyers, doctors and builders were seated at the board. Rev. Fr. Miles Tobin of SS. Mary and Joseph's Church, Carondelet, was toastmaster. The toasts and speakers were as follows: "Sisters of Charity," Archbishop Kain; "Charitable Institutions of Missouri," Dr. Wilson; "Charitable Institutions of St. Louis," Hon. Charles Nagle, President of the City Council; "The New Cathedral," Rev. J. McCaffrey; "Old and New St. Vincent's," Dr. Herman. The speakers handled their subjects in a masterly manner and did justice to the broad theme of humanity.

During the morning the doctors present began a tour of inspection, which they finished after the banquet. The building was inspected from cellar to garret and its fitness for the care of the insane examined.

The asylum has been newly furnished throughout with rich carpets, costly furniture and cheerful pictures, all of which is part of the general plan to cure the insane by surrounding them with all the appurtenances of comfort and ease. The hard wood floors and the polished oak finishings added to the luxurious aspect of the place. The iron guards on the windows are concealed by being made the frames into which the small panes of glass fit. The sashes are also of iron, but the windows have not a prison-like appearance on account of the device employed.

Each of the five floors is complete in itself, and patients could pass their lives without going up or down stairs. Each floor has its own dining hall, toilet rooms and other necessary auxiliaries, and food, clothes, etc., are passed to and from the basement by dumb waiters.

The guests will return to the city on the evening trains, and the sisters will take possession Wednesday. They will commence moving patients from the old asylum at once, and they expect to have the transfer made in a month. Great care will have to be exercised in transporting over two hundred insane people, many of whom have become so used to the old place by years of durance that they will become excited by the change of scene. Patients that can be relied upon as being quiet and docile will be taken out in a special railroad train, which will be side-tracked on a private switch at the new asylum. The other patients will be taken out one by one in carriages, accompanied by keepers. The property at Ninth and Marion streets will be sold as soon as a purchaser is found.

St. Vincent's institution for the insane was founded Aug. 10, 1858, by the Sisters of Charity. The building at Ninth and Marion streets had been erected for an orphanage, but was not used for that purpose, and Archbishop Kenrick gave the sisters a ten-year lease of the property. In 1867 they paid the Archbishop in full and acquired a clear title. They have since added a story and several wings.

FIVE INJURED.

An Electric Car Run Down by a Fast Mail Train.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 25.—The fast mail train on the West Pennsylvania road collided with an electric car on the Sharpsburg & Citizens' line at Sharpsburg at 12:30 this morning and five persons were injured. The names are:

DAN NOLAN, motorman, fatally injured.

DR. G. M. KELLY, badly hurt, but not fatally.

DAN CYPHERS.

MRS. NOBLE.

FRANK DOUGHERTY, cut and bruised.

There were about thirty persons in the car and the accident occurred at a crossing. Just as the electric car reached the railway tracks the trolley came off, leaving the car in darkness. The engineer of the approaching train, which was running at a high rate of speed, did not see the car until he was near to it. He applied the air brakes, but could not prevent the collision. Most of the passengers on the street car were able to get off before the accident occurred, but the motorman stuck to his post and will probably forfeit his life as the result.

THE WEATHER.

Generally Fair, With Brief Thunderstorms; Cooler Wednesday.

Weather forecast for St. Louis and vicinity—Fair Tuesday and Wednesday the greater portion of the time, although local thunder storms of short duration are probable Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. Cooler Wednesday.

For Illinois and Missouri—Thunder showers and cooler to-night and Wednesday.

Warm weather has continued generally except on Lake Superior and in the Northwest, where there has been a considerable fall caused by general showers and rising pressure. Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed with abnormally high temperatures in Kansas and Oklahoma.

A trough of low pressure extends from Kansas to Lake Superior, and is closely followed by a well defined high area.

Weather Warm and Clear.

The warm weather is general throughout the country to-day. St. Louis has the advantage of temperate breezes to offset the terrors of a brassy sky. The thermometer readings were:

ALLEGES ABUSE

Mortimer D. Shaw's Wife Sues for a Complete Divorce.

Mortimer D. Shaw, one of the night chiefs in the operating department of the Western Union Telegraph Co., and well-known as a whilom labor agitator and politician, was made defendant in a divorce suit Tuesday.

His wife, Emma Antoinette Shaw, says in her petition that they were married in St. Louis, Oct. 24, 1884, and with intervals of separation, lived together until Monday, June 24, last, past. She states that within a few years after their marriage he insulted her, cursed and swore at her and frequently threatened to kill her. She also states that he struck her with a loaded revolver which he flourished wildly.

The most sensational part of her story relates to the scene in Barr's dry goods store about a month ago, reported at the time in the Post-Dispatch. May 25, a few days prior to the scene, Mrs. Shaw says, the defendant became violent when he went to her aunt's house, and failed to learn where the plaintiff lived or was employed. When he did get the desired information, she says, he went to where she was at work as a saleslady on the second floor of Barr's establishment, and, catching her by the arm, he showed her a bottle of carbolic acid and said:

"If you don't come with me I'll throw this in your face and disfigure you for life. I have another bottle of the stuff, which I'll swallow." Mrs. Shaw says that, fearful lest he should carry out his threat, she accompanied him to his room at 2915 Olive street, where she says he tried to choke her.

WORKING THE MERCHANTS.

An Imposter Collecting Subscriptions For the Interstate Drill.

Secretary Gwynn of the St. Louis Fair Association stated this morning that his attention has been called to the operations of an individual attempting to collect subscriptions for the Interstate Drill and Encampment. Mr. Gwynn says no one is authorized to solicit subscriptions for the enterprise, and that this individual is an imposter and warns the public against him.

PREMIER SALISBURY.

Formal Acceptance of the Post of Prime Minister.

WINDSOR, June 25.—The Marquis of Salisbury has formally accepted the Premiership made vacant by the resignation of Lord Rosebery.

LONDON, June 25.—After a conference today with A. J. Balfour, the Duke of Devonshire, Joseph Chamberlain and others, the Marquis of Salisbury started for Windsor, where it is expected he will submit to the Queen the names of the new Cabinet Ministers.

It is announced that Joseph Chamberlain, the Unionists leader in the House of Commons, has been appointed to succeed the Marquis of Ripon as Secretary of State for the Colonies. It is also announced that A. J. Balfour has been appointed First Lord of the Treasury in succession to Lord Rosebery, who held that position as well as the Premiership.

There was little excitement in the House of Commons to-day when the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, announced that he had hoped to give the House some definite information regarding the change of Government, but was unable to do so at present. The House then immediately adjourned.

THIS IS A FIGHT TO A FINISH.

No Compromise Possible in Kentucky Democratic Convention.

IT WILL BE SILVER OR GOLD.

The Contest Now Centers on an Indorsement of Carlisle and Cleveland.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 25.—Late developments show that there is no chance of a compromise between the friends of free silver and the goldbugs in the Kentucky Democratic State Convention. The "cuckoos" are making a desperate fight to secure the endorsement of the Administration and they concede that if they do not get it they are whipped. The whole contest centers around that. Everything else is lost sight of.

Senator Lindsay came in last night and joined the "cuckoos." They are not as confident as they were. They realize that they may win the temporary organization, and yet be beaten on a vote in convention. It is not improbable that this may happen.

Senator Blackburn is very confident. He said to the Post-Dispatch staff correspondent to-day that free silver had a majority in the convention and the endorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle was impossible.

John S. Rhea and some other silver leaders say the same thing. It is certain that a resolution to endorse the Administration will lead to the bitterest fight ever seen in a Kentucky convention. Many delegates, who, because of trades with candidates, will vote with the goldbugs will refuse to vote for an endorsement of Carlisle's course.

Nothing but the actual vote will determine the result and that will likely be taken late this evening.

There are only two candidates for Governor in the field—Gen. P. W. Hardin and Cassius M. Clay, Jr. Hardin is for free silver and Clay is backed by the administration. Hardin's nomination is regarded as practically certain.

There will be a sharp contest at the start over the election of a temporary chairman. The candidate of the "sound money" is Capt. W. J. Stone, and that of the silverites, Judge Beckner of Winchester, although he is posing as a Hardin man in the preliminary skirmish.

SELECTING COMMITTEES.

At 10 o'clock this morning the various county delegations met by Congressional districts in order that each might select a member for each of the three committees, Resolutions, Credentials and Organization. Here the preliminary fights were made between the forces of "sound money" and free silver.

There was a double contest in selecting members of the Committee on Resolutions. First, the silver and gold men wanted to get a majority of members so as to have their respective views incorporated into the platform. Second, Senator Blackburn and ex-Gov. J. B. McCreary, both candidates for the Senatorship, were running their first heat in competing for the chairmanship of the Committee on Resolutions. The Senatorship is involved in the control of the convention more than the Governorship or any of the State offices.

The other candidates for Senator are ex-Gov. Buckner and Gov. Brown. Blackburn and Brown are for free silver; McCreary and Buckner are against it. All are on the ground watching their chances. Senator Lindsay is working with Clay, McCreary, Buckner and others for a "sound money" plank. About the only prominent Kentucky Democrat who is not here is Secretary Carlisle, and he is represented by his private secretary, appointment clerk and others from Washington.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

The eleven congressional districts held their delegate conventions this forenoon to select members for the convention committees. In some of these meetings there were hot contests, especially over the platform on resolutions committee selections. When the result was announced the Administration men claimed to have obtained control of the Resolutions Committee, but the opponents of an indorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle do not concede it. They say that several of the "sound money" men will simply vote to reaffirm the Chicago platform and stop there, without going into the indorsement business. In any event the fact that such pronounced free silver men as Rhea and Ellis are on the committee makes two reports and a bitter fight in the convention a certainty.

"I do not know that I shall attend the convention, if in the State, for one of its objects has been published to be the consideration of the action of the State's delegation in Congress on the silver question. While I believe that I correctly represented a majority of my constituents in what I did and said, and have no apology nor retraction to make, I should hesitate about soliciting favorable action by a convention as to my course. I would prefer that the Democrats of the State, who are thoroughly acquainted with my opinions and conduct, should express their views in regard to my record without any suggestions from me.

"In any event, absent or present, in the Senate or out of it, I am against the single gold standard."

SOCIETY GIRL'S SUICIDE.

Wealthy Miss Pleassie Culbertson Drowns Herself in a Cistern.

TOULON, Ill., June 25.—Miss Pleassie Culbertson, a prominent society girl of this place, committed suicide to-day, her body being found in a shallow cistern at her mother's home. Miss Culbertson had been ill for several days, and is supposed to have drowned herself while temporarily insane. She must have lain down in order to get her head under water. Miss Culbertson was a beautiful young woman, highly educated, and was one of the wealthiest women in Central Illinois, having recently been left a large fortune by her grandfather.

Laura Moore Attempts to Save Lillie and Is Shot With Her.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 25.—Lillie and Laura Moore, daughters of a farmer in the mountains of Rabun County, were killed yesterday by their cousin, Seymour Keener, who for four years had been enamored of the former, but whose advances had been refused. When he met them yesterday he started to shoot the elder sister, when the younger clasped her arms about her and begged for her life. Not being able to get them apart, Keener shot both sisters. Keener was arrested only after desperate resistance.

TO HARBOR THE INSANE.

Dedicatory Exercises at the New St. Vincent's Asylum.

BUILT ON ADVANCED PLANS.

The Institution Is Luxuriously Furnished, Is Half a Mile in Circumference and Cost $500,000.

The new St. Vincent Institute for the Insane at Mount St. Vincent, on the Wabash, between Eden and Huntley Stations, was formally opened Tuesday. The edifice is the largest of its kind in the State and was completed at a cost of over $500,000. It is half a mile in circumference, has accommodations for 800 or, at a pinch, 1,000 patients and is surrounded by ninety-seven acres of farm land and woods.

The first order of the day was the dedication of the chapel at 9 o'clock by Archbishop Kain. He was assisted by a large number of priests and the ceremony was witnessed by many persons who had received the invitations necessary for admission. Some of the sisters from the old asylum at Ninth and Marion streets were in the part of the chapel reserved for them.

After the dedication solemn high mass coram episcopo, that is, before the archbishop, was celebrated. Very Rev. Robert Lennon, C. M., of Emmetsburg, Md., Provincial of the Sisters of Charity in the United States, was celebrant. The officers of the mass were Rev. J. J. McCabe, deacon, Rev. J. Schaefer, sub-deacon; Rev. O. J. McDonald, master of ceremonies. During the mass, Rev. F. Arthur O'Reilly preached to a large crowd of people assembled on the grounds, who had not tickets of admission and could not be accommodated in the church.

In the afternoon, at 1 o'clock, a banquet was spread for 200 guests in the community dining-hall. Priests, lawyers, doctors and builders were seated at the board. Rev. Fr. Miles Tobin of SS. Mary and Joseph's Church, Carondelet, was toastmaster. The toasts and speakers were as follows: "Sisters of Charity," Archbishop Kain; "Charitable Institutions of Missouri," Dr. Wilson; "Charitable Institutions of St. Louis," Hon. Charles Nagle, President of the City Council; "The New Cathedral," Rev. J. McCaffrey; "Old and New St. Vincent's," Dr. Herman. The speakers handled their subjects in a masterly manner and did justice to the broad theme of humanity.

During the morning the doctors present began a tour of inspection, which they finished after the banquet. The building was inspected from cellar to garret and its fitness for the care of the insane examined.

The asylum has been newly furnished throughout with rich carpets, costly furniture and cheerful pictures, all of which is part of the general plan to cure the insane by surrounding them with all the appurtenances of comfort and ease. The hard wood floors and the polished oak finishings added to the luxurious aspect of the place. The iron guards on the windows are concealed by being made the frames into which the small panes of glass fit. The sashes are also of iron, but the windows have not a prison-like appearance on account of the device employed.

Each of the five floors is complete in itself, and patients could pass their lives without going up or down stairs. Each floor has its own dining hall, toilet rooms and other necessary auxiliaries, and food, clothes, etc., are passed to and from the basement by dumb waiters.

The guests will return to the city on the evening trains, and the sisters will take possession Wednesday. They will commence moving patients from the old asylum at once, and they expect to have the transfer made in a month. Great care will have to be exercised in transporting over two hundred insane people, many of whom have became so used to the old place by years of durance that they will become excited by the change of scene. Patients that can be relied upon as being quiet and docile will be taken out in a special railroad train, which will be side-tracked on a private switch at the new asylum. The other patients will be taken out one by one in carriages, accompanied by keepers. The property at Ninth and Marion streets will be sold as soon as a purchaser is found.

St. Vincent's institution for the insane was founded Aug. 10, 1858, by the Sisters of Charity. The building at Ninth and Marion streets had been erected for an orphanage, but was not used for that purpose, and Archbishop Kenrick gave the sisters a ten-year lease of the property. In 1867 they paid the Archbishop in full and acquired a clear title. They have since added a story and several wings.

FIVE INJURED.

An Electric Car Run Down by a Fast Mail Train.

PITTSBURG, Pa., June 25.—The fast mail train on the West Pennsylvania road collided with an electric car on the Sharpsburg & Citizens' line at Sharpsburg at 12:30 this morning and five persons were injured. The names are:

DAN NOLAN, motorman, fatally injured.

DR. G. M. KELLY, badly hurt, but not fatally.

DAN CYPHERS,

MRS. NOBLE.

FRANK DOUGHERTY, cut and bruised.

There were about thirty persons in the car and the accident occurred at a crossing. Just as the electric car reached the railway tracks the trolley came off, leaving the car in darkness. The engineer of the approaching train, which was running at a high rate of speed, did not see the car until he was near to it. He applied the air brakes, but could not prevent the collision. Most of the passengers on the street car were able to get off before the accident occurred, but the motorman stuck to his post and will probably forfeit his life as the result.

THE WEATHER.

Generally Fair, With Brief Thunderstorms; Cooler Wednesday.

Weather forecast for St. Louis and vicinity—Fair Tuesday and Wednesday the greater portion of the time, although local thunder storms of short duration are probable Tuesday night or Wednesday morning. Cooler Wednesday.

For Illinois and Missouri—Thunder showers and cooler to-night and Wednesday.

Warm weather has continued generally except on Lake Superior and in the Northwest, where there has been a considerable fall caused by general showers and rising pressure. Elsewhere fair weather has prevailed with abnormally high temperatures in Kansas and Oklahoma.

A trough of low pressure extends from Kansas to Lake Superior, and is closely followed by a well defined high area.

Weather Warm and Clear.

The warm weather is general throughout the country to-day. St. Louis has the advantage of temperate breezes to offset the terrors of a brassy sky. The thermometer readings were:

ALLEGES ABUSE

Mortimer D. Shaw's Wife Sues for a Complete Divorce.

Mortimer D. Shaw, one of the night chiefs in the operating department of the Western Union Telegraph Co., and well-known as a whilom labor agitator and politician, was made defendant in a divorce suit Tuesday.

His wife, Emma Antoinette Shaw, says in her petition that they were married in St. Louis, Oct. 24, 1884, and with intervals of separation, lived together until Monday, June 24, last, past. She states that within a few years after their marriage he insulted her, cursed and swore at her and frequently threatened to kill her. She also states that he struck her with a loaded revolver which he flourished wildly.

The most sensational part of her story relates to the scene in Barr's dry goods store about a month ago, reported at the time in the Post-Dispatch. May 25, a few days prior to the scene, Mrs. Shaw says, the defendant became violent when he went to her aunt's house, and failed to learn where the plaintiff lived or was employed. When he did get the desired information, she says, he went to where she was at work as a saleslady on the second floor of Barr's establishment, and, catching her by the arm, he showed her a bottle of carbolic acid and said:

"If you don't come with me I'll throw this in your face and disfigure you for life. I have another bottle of the stuff, which I'll swallow." Mrs. Shaw says that, fearful lest he should carry out his threat, she accompanied him to his room at 2915 Olive street, where she says he tried to choke her.

PREMIER SALISBURY.

Formal Acceptance of the Post of Prime Minister.

WINDSOR, June 25.—The Marquis of Salisbury has formally accepted the Premiership made vacant by the resignation of Lord Rosebery.

LONDON, June 25.—After a conference today with A. J. Balfour, the Duke of Devonshire, Joseph Chamberlain and others, the Marquis of Salisbury started for Windsor, where it is expected he will submit to the Queen the names of the new Cabinet Ministers.

It is announced that Joseph Chamberlain, the Unionists leader in the House of Commons, has been appointed to succeed the Marquis of Ripon as Secretary of State for the Colonies. It is also announced that A. J. Balfour has been appointed First Lord of the Treasury in succession to Lord Rosebery, who held that position as well as the Premiership.

There was little excitement in the House of Commons to-day when the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, announced that he had hoped to give the House some definite information regarding the change of Government, but was unable to do so at present. The House then immediately adjourned.

MARQUIS OF SALISBURY.

THIS IS A FIGHT TO A FINISH.

No Compromise Possible in Kentucky Democratic Convention.

IT WILL BE SILVER OR GOLD.

The Contest Now Centers on an Indorsement of Carlisle and Cleveland.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 25.—Late developments show that there is no chance of a compromise between the friends of free silver and the goldbugs in the Kentucky Democratic State Convention. The "cuckoos" are making a desperate fight to secure the endorsement of the Administration and they concede that if they do not get it they are whipped. The whole contest centers around that. Everything else is lost sight of.

Senator Lindsay came in last night and joined the "cuckoos." They are not as confident as they were. They realize that they may win the temporary organization, and yet be beaten on a vote in convention. It is not improbable that this may happen.

Senator Blackburn is very confident. He said to the Post-Dispatch staff correspondent to-day that free silver had a majority in the convention and the endorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle was impossible.

John S. Rhea and some other silver leaders say the same thing. It is certain that a resolution to endorse the Administration will lead to the bitterest fight ever seen in a Kentucky convention. Many delegates, who, because of trades with candidates, will vote with the goldbugs will refuse to vote for an endorsement of Carlisle's course.

Nothing but the actual vote will determine the result and that will likely be taken late this evening.

There are only two candidates for Governor in the field—Gen. P. W. Hardin and Cassius M. Clay, Jr. Hardin is for free silver and Clay is backed by the administration. Hardin's nomination is regarded as practically certain.

There will be a sharp contest at the start over the election of a temporary chairman. The candidate of the "sound money" is Capt. W. J. Stone, and that of the silverites, Judge Beckner of Winchester, although he is posing as a Hardin man in the preliminary skirmish.

SELECTING COMMITTEES.

At 10 o'clock this morning the various county delegations met by Congressional districts in order that each might select a member for each of the three committees, Resolutions, Credentials and Organization. Here the preliminary fights were made between the forces of "sound money" and free silver.

There was a double contest in selecting members of the Committee on Resolutions. First, the silver and gold men wanted to get a majority of members so as to have their respective views incorporated into the platform. Second, Senator Blackburn and ex-Gov. J. B. McCreary, both candidates for the Senatorship, were running their first heat in competing for the chairmanship of the Committee on Resolutions. The Senatorship is involved in the control of the convention more than the Governorship or any of the State offices.

The other candidates for Senator are ex-Gov. Buckner and Gov. Brown. Blackburn and Brown are for free silver; McCreary and Buckner are against it. All are on the ground watching their chances. Senator Lindsay is working with Clay, McCreary, Buckner and others for a "sound money" plank. About the only prominent Kentucky Democrat who is not here is Secretary Carlisle, and he is represented by his private secretary, appointment clerk and others from Washington.

COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

The eleven congressional districts held their delegate conventions this forenoon to select members for the convention committees. In some of these meetings there were hot contests, especially over the platform an resolutions committee selections. When the result was announced the Administration men claimed to have obtained control of the Resolutions Committee, but the opponents of an indorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle do not concede it. They say that several of the "sound money" men will simply vote to reaffirm the Chicago platform and stop there, without going into the indorsement business. In any event the fact that such pronounced free silver men as Rhea and Hite are on the committee makes two reports and a bitter fight in the convention a certainty.

The silver men charge frichery in the selection of members of the committees in some districts.

The hottest was in the Seventh Congressional District, where Senator Blackburn was beaten for member of the Committee on Resolutions by Prof. Arthur Yeager, the friend of Secretary Carlisle. The delegates from that district are largely for sound money and the administration, including the endorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle by name, but Blackburn had hoped to get the support of personal friends who oppose his free silver views.

The following is the Committee on Resolutions:

First District—August Coulter silver.
Second—W. T. Ellis; silver.
Third—John S. Rhea; silver.
Fourth, E. D. Walker; conservative.
Fifth—J. M. Atherton; gold.
Sixth—R. A. Elliston; gold.
Seventh—Prof. Arthur Yeager; gold.
Eighth—James B. McCreary; gold.
Ninth—John F. Haager; gold.
Tenth—John P. Salyer; gold.
Eleventh—R. M. Jackson; conservative.

THE TRUE SITUATION.

Conditions Which Prevail on the Eve of the Convention.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., June 25.—Mr. Carlisle's Private Secretary, W. H. Vansenden, Capt. Sam P. Gaines, Chief of the appointment branch of the Treasury Department, and Cland M. Johnston, of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, are the direct representatives of Cleveland and Carlisle here now. They are taking little interest in candidates, except in so far as combinations can be made to help out a "sound money" platform and an indorsement of the administration. The spectacle of Carlisle's personal representatives individually soliciting delegates to give their chief a certificate of character is an unusual one. Probably it never happened before.

It is here that the hardest fight of the convention will come, and they know it. Many of the delegates who will vote for "sound money" on a test will not vote for an indorsement of the national administration, and every effort is being made to whip them into line. Party harmony and the success of the State ticket are the arguments principally used. A refusal to express confidence in Carlisle, it is being urged, would be an affront to his friends that could not be overlooked, and they would be compelled to withhold their support from a ticket nominated under such circumstances.

This is having some effect with the candidates. They are naturally opposed to a fight, and quietly they are urging their friends to do all they can to bring about a compromise.

State Auditor Norman is also working to effect an agreement. Norman is one of the strongest and most adroit politicians in the State, and he is urging Senator Blackburn and John S. Rhea, who is expected to lead the anti-administration forces on the floor to accept the Chicago platform and a quasi indorsement of Cleveland and Carlisle.

With the general desire among the candidates and conservative Democrats to avoid trouble it may be that some sort of an agreement may be patched up, but it does not seem probable. The chances are for a fight, as they put it here, from "end to end."

The result is hard to predict. There will be 878 delegates in the convention, and not one-half of them are instructed on the money question. They are not only not instructed, but the most of them do not know what they want to do. The leaders on both sides claim to be equally confident, but both are working like beavers, and the action of neither bear out their professions. The conservative element is unquestionably large, and it is trying to keep down a break in the convention. It is holding off until the last moment, and the chances all are that a preponderating portion of the delegates will not have determined how they will vote until the break comes in the convention.

Congressman Clardy of the Second District voiced the sentiments of a great many of the delegates when he said to a Post-Dispatch correspondent: "Our delegates would like to see the currency question and the indorsement of the Administration kept out of the convention and we are waiting to that end. We are afraid of the effect it will have upon the State. But if it comes to a vote we will vote for a silver plank, though we would take the Chicago platform.

"There is no doubt at all that Kentucky is a free silver State, but the personal plea of Carlisle and the work of Federal office-holders had its effect. There were a great many counties which were for free silver which didn't instruct because they thought it was better to let the matter be settled here. The result is that the farmers were busy and the towns were allowed to select most of the delegates.

"I venture to say that there are not 100 farmers in the convention. The effect of this may be unfortunate. Many of the counties which favor free silver may have their votes cast against it."

As bearing out the statement of Congressman Clardy the Marion County delegation is a case in point. It is a free silver county and voted down a resolution to instruct its delegates to vote to indorse the Administration. Yet every delegate is from Lebanon, the county seat and everyone is likely to go into the convention and vote for "sound money" and a Cleveland and Carlisle indorsement, if it comes to a vote.

Some idea of the fight which the cuckoos were enabled to put up may be gained when it is stated that at a low estimate there are over 1,000 Federal office-holders in Kentucky. These were all thoroughly organized, and were given all the time they needed to canvass their districts. It is an open secret also that money was liberally supplied when needed, and a wide open campaign was conducted. All the power, prestige and influence of the National Administration, the personality of Carlisle, Senator Lindsay, and Watterson and the news and editorial columns of every newspaper in the State were thrown into the breach. The gold bugs staked everything on the outcome, and nothing was overlooked. Yesterday's Louisville papers were filled with flapdoodle about "the great Kentuckian who is at the head of the Treasury Department," and appeals to the State pride of the delegates not to humiliate him. The delegates are also being solicited personally on the same lines.

The Courier-Journal, the Administration organ, will not accept a reiteration of the Chicago platform with a failure to indorse Cleveland and Carlisle as a vindication. Editorially it characterizes such a procedure as "the extreme of absurdity," and says that "the record of the Democratic President and of the great Kentuckian who is at the head of the Treasury, must be approved or rejected by the Democratic convention of Kentucky. The question cannot be dodged."

The chances are that it will not be approved, or if it is it will be in such a diluted form that it will be worse than no indorsement.

This interesting information for Missourians comes to the Courier-Journal as a special from Washington: "A report has reached here that ex-Gov. Francis of Missouri, who is Chairman of the State Central Committee, has agreed to call a State convention to meet two months hence to consider the silver question. Secretary Carlisle will be urged to go to Missouri and make one or two speeches on the financial question. It is said Gov. Francis' object in calling a State convention is to take the wind out of the sails of any snap silver convention that may be sprung, such as was recently held at Springfield, Ill. His programme for a legitimate convention is said to meet the approval of the Administration. It is confidently asserted by Missouri Democrats here that if Secretary Carlisle will go to St. Louis and Kansas City and make a speech or two there will be no question but that the State at the coming convention will declare for sound money."

The fight for Governor is still between Hardin and Clay. Hardin claims 635 votes on the first ballot, five less than enough to nominate, and Clay's friends figure up 378 for him. The administration forces are, as a rule, supporting Clay.

Ex-Congressman W. J. Stone will be the administration candidate for temporary Chairman and Wm. M. Beckner of Winchester will probably be chosen by Blackburn. As the temporary Chairman appoints two members-at-large on the Committee on Resolutions, the vote will be to a great extent a test one.

DEATH TO ALL PEACEMAKERS.

Six Cubans Who Talked of Truce Are Promptly Shot.

VILLAGES LEFT IN ASHES.

All the Horrors of War Are Attending the Desperate Struggle to Free Cuba.

(Copyrighted, 1895 by the Press Pub. Co.)

Special Correspondence to the Post-Dispatch.

HAVANA, Cuba, June 19.—Conflicts between insurgents and government troops are of daily occurrence now all over the island. There are rebel forces within fifty miles of Havana, and the landing of a filibustering expedition near here is not only feared but expected.

Gen. Maximo received the committee of six chosen to interview him in behalf of peace. But it is reported to-day that as soon as the committeemen began to urge him to surrender or leave that part of the island, he called together his staff officers, who immediately court-martialed the six men and condemned them to death. The execution of the sentence promptly followed.

Gen. Gomez issued a proclamation shortly after, assuming the command of all of the Cuban forces and giving notice that he would have anybody shot who approached him on the subject of treaty or compromise. It appears that this policy has been carried out.

The names of the persons said to have been executed are not yet known here; but if this report is true, they will soon be made public, as the committeemen, no doubt, were prominent and wealthy.

The insurgents burn all villages and plantations they capture and leave devastation wherever they go. Their object is to force the farm laborers and countrymen to join them, and, by ruining the country, achieve a speedy victory. Many Spaniards in Havana who until now secretly favored the revolution, or at least were indifferent, are now indignant over the burning of property.

CRUISE OF THE ATLANTA.

Like the Raleigh, She Will Keep a Lookout for Filibusters.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25. The Raleigh, which was sent South two weeks ago, has left Key West and put to sea. She has been going about from one port to another, and her movements were easily traced by those interested in avoiding her. By going to sea she will be able to keep her movements and her whereabouts secret, and be more apt to be sucessful in her present undertaking.

The administration, however, believes that the Raleigh will not be able to cope alone with the increased activity recently displayed by those who sympathize with the Insurrectionists, and orders have been issued to the Atlanta to proceed to Cuban waters. This cruiser will go at once to Hayti, which will be her ostensible destination. Her main object, however, is to keep a lookout for filibusterers and overhaul all suspicious craft from the United States that enter the waters about the Island of Cuba. She will be able to sail for three weeks without a new supply of coal, but at the end of that time her bunkers will have to be refilled. When that time comes the Atlanta has orders to proceed to Santiago De Cuba for coaling. This seems to be a very innocent order, but the appearance of the cruiser at this port, the hot-bed of the insurrection, is believed to be for the purpose of letting filibusterers know that this country has decided to put out a strong hand to prevent assistance from its citizens in the way of either men or munitions of war.

WOODWARD IN JAIL.

Seized by the Spaniards While Trying to Escape From Cuba.

BOSTON, Mass., June 25.—Frank R. E. Woodward, correspondent in Cuba for a New York newspaper, is in a Spanish dungeon because of his visiting an insurgent camp. He was under surveillance, and tried to escape on the British steamer Ely, which has arrived here from Banes, Cuba, but the Spanish guards recognized him and then thrust him into prison. He is to be taken to Gibara for trial.

Woodward arrived at Banes from the interior June 16, the day before the Ely sailed. His horse was nearly dead from fatigue, and both man and horse were covered with mud. This was what aroused Spanish suspicions. Woodward, who was very sick, had a lot of notes detailing the strength and movement of the rebels. The Spaniards took them. Woodward asked Capt. Donovan to immediately notify the press of the United States so as to bring his arrest to the notice of the State Department, for he feared the papers the Spaniards seized will be used against him. The Spaniards, it is understood, will charge him with being a rebel officer trying to escape to the United States.

Woodward told the officers of the Ely that there are 11,000 rebels about Holguin. There was a rumor in Banes before the Ely left that two other United States correspondents had been arrested near Santiago. The authorities have ordered all correspondents to leave the country immediately.

MARTI'S WIFE IN NEW YORK.

It Is Said She Left Cuba to Escape Assassination.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Many friends greeted Mrs. Jose Marti at the pier yesterday on the arrival of the steamer City of Washington. The wife of the martyr and her son, Jose, a bright lad of 16, were the first to leave the steamer. Mrs. Marti is a handsome woman, a brunette, looking scarcely 22 years of age, though she is 33. She is said to be one of the fairest of Cuban women. Those who ought to know the inside facts say that the real object of her visit to this country is to escape persecution on the island. It is said Spaniards never forgive an enemy nor the family of an enemy, and instances are cited where the lowest malefactors have been liberated from prison, even allowed to escape the death penalty, on condition that they assassinate some helpless invalid or woman or girl who chanced to be a member of some patriotic Cuban family. It was by the strongest and most sincere advice of her closest friends that Mrs. Marti left the island.

THE DYNAMITERS.

Col. Roderiguez Expects to Blow Spanish Ships Out of the Sea.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Lieut.-Col. Jose Roderiguez, a distinguished engineer, beloved by Cuban patriots as a hero of the last revolution, is now in New York, making a scientific investigation of the latest discoveries in the use of high explosives. He said: "The object of my mission is to learn all that is new in explosives up to this time in Europe and America. Dynamite and kindred explosives for war purposes have recently developed new powers beyond the knowledge of the scientist of a few years ago.

"When I get perfected in every detail, I shall return to Cuba, and, with a corps of competent engineers, begin operations on the Spanish forts and cities. We will begin with Havana and give the Spanish a few lessons in the art of modern warfare that will not only surprise those who escape destruction, but Europe will be surprised. I will not go to the trouble of running away from gunboats or the torpedo boats that may be patrolling the coast. I will quietly meet them on their own ground and blow their ships out of the sea."

Campos and Cleveland.

NEW YORK, June 25.—A special to the Herald from Havana, says: Marshall Campos, in a letter dated June 19, says he desires to have it known that he feels confidence in the sincerity of the United States, whose highly honored President, Mr. Cleveland, has given unmistakable evidence of his loyalty to Spain.

CHURCH—CLARK.

Most Brilliant Wedding of the Late June Season To-Night.

The most brilliant event of the late season will be the wedding of Miss Carlotta Clark and Mr. Alonzo C. Church, which takes place this afternoon at 5 o'clock at St. Alphonsus Rock Church.

The bride is the beautiful daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John O'Fallon Clark, the bridegroom the son of Mrs. Mary F. Scanlan, one of the most prominent young men in society. Both young people belong to representative St. Louis families, and the church will be thronged with the elite of society to witness their nuptials, which will be very imposing, the ceremony being performed by Archbishop Kain, assisted by Frs. Brown, Grimmelsman and others of the Catholic clergy.

There will be no floral decorations with the exceptions of potted palms, the beautiful marble altar being brilliantly illuminated by numberless wax candles. The music, too, will be very beautiful.

The bride will be attended by two maids of honor, the first being her sister, Miss Clemence Clark, the second the young sister of the bridegroom, Miss Marie Scanlan, who has not yet made a formal entrance into society. The bridemaids will be Misses Mary Hutchinson, Beatrice Clark, sister of the bride, Mary Walker White, Quita Bakewell and Marie Carr.

The bridegroom will be attended by his friend, Mr. Ed Robert, as best man, and the following groomsmen, Messrs. Philip Scanlan, Louis Perry, Will Haarstick, Tom Francis, Lindell Gordon, Steve Gore, George von Schrader. Messrs. Charles Mullikin, Walker Mulling, Frank Milton, J. W. Valliant, W. L. Chambers, Dickson Walsh, J. W. Sharon and Cornelius Tompkins will be ushers.

ALONZO C. CHURCH AND MISS CARLOTTA M. CLARK.

The bride will enter the church with her father, preceded by her two maids of honor, who will be gowned alike in white organdie over white silk simply made and trimmed elaborately with burre lace, and both carry baskets of pink sweet peas. The bride, who has been noted for her beauty, will wear a gown of white satin, the skirt en train, and perfectly plain, the bodice high, and veiled with white chiffon, caught with sprays of orange blossoms, the girdle and collar being trimmed with chrysanthemum bows of white satin ribbon with centers of orange blossoms. Her veil of white tulle will envelope the whole, confined to her chestnut hair with a diamond star, the gift of the bridegroom, and she will carry a large bouquet of lilies of the valley. The bridemaids will be gowned alike in white organdie, over pink silk, the full skirts made dancing length, the bodice high with pointed collars, trimmed with yellow burre lace, girdles of pink satin, and chrysanthemums bows. They will wear veils of white tull extending to the waist, fastened by wreath pins of gold leaves set with pearls, the gift of the bride, and they carry bouquets of pink sweet peas.

The ceremony will be followed by a small reception at the residence of the bride's parents, 4201 Page boulevard, only the bridal party and the immediate relatives being present. The house will be decked with palms, sweet peas and La France roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Church leave this evening for the East and sail on the 3d of July for Europe, to remain indefinitely.

Christmann—Pauley.

Quite a large wedding will take place this evening at the Central Presbyterian Church, corner of Garrison and Lucas avenues, the bride being the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Pauley of Compton and Easton avenues, and the bridegroom Mr. Frederick W. Christmann of this city. The ceremony will take place at 8 p. m., Rev. Mr. Matthews officiating, as Dr. Brank, the venerable pastor, is too ill to perform any of the duties of his office.

This will be a pink wedding, the color tones appearing in the dresses of the bridemaids as well as in the decorations at the church and the residence of the bride. The space in front of the pulpit will be filled with potted palms, relieved by bouquets of pink carnations tied with pink ribbons.

The bride, a pretty brunette with a graceful figure, will wear a robe of rich ivory-tinted duchesse satin, the skirt made with a long court train, the bodice high in the neck and round waisted, with a pompadour front, the high collar of pearl passementerie, a handsome pointed bertha composed entirely of peanis extending from shoulder to shoulder, the immense sleeves formed of a single puff of the satin, the edge of the waist finished with two narrow rounded folds of the material and a butterfly bow in the back. The long veil of white tulle will be confined to the high coiffure with a diamond dagger, and she will carry a bouquet of bride roses tied with white satin ribbon.

The bridemaids will be gowned alike in rose-tinted organdie, the full Paquin skirts made over petticoats of pink silk, the bodice high, the front made duchesse blouse, confined about the waist with rose pink satin ribbon.

A reception will follow the ceremony at the residence of the bride from 9 to 11 o'clock.

The young couple will keep house at 1015 North Garrison avenue and be at home to friends after Sept. 1.

Higgins—Goodwin.

A pretty home wedding took place Monday evening at the residence of Dr. and Mrs. Marshall Baker of Webster Groves, the bride being Miss Jessie C. Goodwin, daughter of Mrs. Baker, and the bridegroom Mr. Thomas A. Higgins of Colorado. The ceremony took place at 6 o'clock, Rev. Mr. A. Kistler of the Presbyterian Church officiating. The bride wore her traveling gown of brown covert cloth, handsomely trimmed with passementerie to match, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses.

There were no attendants and only connections of the family or intimate friends of the bride were present. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins left for their home in Colorado.

AOSTA—HELENE.

Wedded in Brilliant Fashion at Kingston-on-Thames.

LONDON, June 25.—Prince Emanuel Filiberto, Duke of Aosta, nephew of King Humbert of Italy, was married to-day at the Church of St. Raphael, Kingston-on-Thames, his bride being the Princess of Orleans, second daughter of the Countess of Paris and sister of the Duke of Orleans.

The wedding ceremony was a most brilliant affair. The route from Kingston railway station to the church was spanned by triumphal arches, made dazzling with color by a multitude of French and Italian flags and ensigns, and by escutcheons representing the arms of Savoy and of the House of Orleans. Enthusiastic masses of people lined the streets of Kingston and cheered the arrivals most heartily.

Nine gentlemen of the Orleans household acted as ushers. Among the first to arrive were the Prince and Princess de Joinville, the Duke of Aumale, the Duke of Chartres, Princess Margarett of Orleans, the Austro-Hungarian Embassador to Great Britain, Count Deym Von Stritez, Sir Frederick Leighton, President of the Royal Academy, and the Duke and Duchess of Teck.

The interior of the church was made beautiful with artistic floral decorations, softened by the judicious use of palms, ferns and other plants, contrasting nicely with the colors of the ladies' toilettes and with the uniforms of the military guests.

In front of the altar were two gold chairs, upholstered with velvet, for the use of the bride and bridegroom, and on either side of them were similar gilt chairs for the accommodation of the witnesses to the marriage ceremony. The family pews, richly draped with red velvet trimmed with gold, were reserved for the members of the Orleans family and for the relatives of the Duke of Aosta.

The Infanta Eulalie of Spain, wife of Prince Antoine of Bourbon-Orleans, arrived at the church at 10 a. m. and was closely followed by the Duke of Orleans, in evening dress, and escorted by four game keepers in their handsome blue uniforms, from the Chateau d'Eu. The Duke took a seat on the left of the bride's chair.

The Duke of Aosta in the uniform of his regiment (he is Colonel of the Fifth Regiment of the Italian Seige Artillery), and wearing the order of the Black Eagle, entered the church at 10:20 a. m. and shook hands cordially with the Duke of Orleans, after which he seated himself on the gold chair prepared for his use.

THIEBES-STIERLIN MUSIC CO.

Opening of Their Beautiful Rooms at 1118 Olive Street.

The Thiebes-Stierlin Music Co. of 1118 Olive street opened its beautiful rooms with an appropriate celebration Saturday. An elaborate musical programme had been prepared. The orchestra at the opening played sixteen selections, all pieces published by Thiebes-Stierlin, and nearly all the work of local composers. The house is splendidly arranged for handling a large music business. On the first floor the sheet music is kept in 1,800 compartments, each compartment holding from 200 to 500 sheets of music. The business offices of the company are in the rear. On the second floor pianos are displayed exclusively, and over 100 instruments have already been installed. Organs and the cheaper grades of pianos are kept on the third floor. The fourth is the publishing department, and the repair shop for pianos. On the fifth floor are storage rooms for private pianos, where pianos may be kept for twenty-five years without loss to their owners. The company agrees to make good any damage to the pianos in its care. It is the sole agent of the well-known Shaw-Brambach and Jewett pianos. The "Miss Columbia" piano, manufactured for the Pennsylvania State Building at the World's Fair and designed and made by the Shaw Piano Co. of Erie, Pa., occupies the place of honor in the show window.

MAY PROVE FATAL.

Play With a Revolver Results Seriously for Oliver McKenna.

While playing with a revolver at the soda-water stand near the lake in Forest Park, Fritz Kipp, a young German who attends the stand, accidentally shot Oliver McKenna of 2639 Washington avenue, who has charge of the phonographs near the ice-cream stand. Without looking to see where he was pointing it, Kipp pulled the trigger. The bullet struck McKenna in the right side. The revolver belonged to Charles Mullen, who is employed about the place. Dr. Heine Marks, who is attending McKenna, fears that he will not survive, the ball having penetrated the intestines. Young Kipp was arrested. He says he had no idea of doing injury to anybody and never handled a revolver in his life.

COLLARS WILL COME HIGHER.

That Is in Price, for the Laundry Trust Is Organized.

The Laundry Trust was organized Monday night at 623 Locust street at the office of the City Laundry. The meeting adopted constitution and by-laws drawn up by a committee appointed one week ago. The constitution requires all laundries in the trust to refuse work of the wagon men, who are working on a commission basis, or of the hand laundries that prices shall be raised and maintained at 5¢ per dozen for collars and cuffs that "agencies or "branches" shall not be paid more than 20 per cent on work, and that no member of the trust shall take an agency from another without the permission of the president of the trust.

That the trust is anxious to keep its proceedings quiet is evidenced by the fact that a reporter who attended the meeting was unceremoniously ejected, sans information and hat.

Fred A. Fodde, president of the Merchants' Laundry, said: "I refused to go into their combine because I could not adhere to their scale of raised prices. If I attempted to get 2½ cents per dozen my customers would go to the Chinese laundries. The trust was formed by a company that organized it to help themselves out of a hole. Smaller laundries went into the trust because they were afraid to stay out.

"The companies won't live up to the rules. Some propose to get the wagon and hand laundry business by giving a share of stock to each wagon man or hand laundry, thus constituting them partners. The Pacific Laundry proposes to buy up all the wagons or at least to ostensibly do so, and in that way evade the issue."

The trust elected officers as follows: Mr. Ole Peterson, President; Mr. W. M. Anderson, Vice-President; W. S. Hodges, Secretary, and C. Dolph, Treasurer. The members of the Executive Committee are: Messrs. E. W. Knierim, H. W. Freudenstein, F. Wickes, F. W. Dustin and A. S. Bouchard.

The next meeting is called for Monday night.

REAL ESTATE.

Lindell Hotel to Change Hands.

It is rumored that a deal has been closed by which the Lindell Hotel will be transferred to a new set of owners. The consideration is said to be $75,000. P. A. Brady of Chicago, John F. Donovan of the J. F. Donovan Commission Co. of this city, John Kroger of Chicago and R. B. Tommerson of St. Louis constitute the purchasing syndicate. Messrs. Tommerson and Kroger, who are president and vice-president of the Cafeteria Catering Co., a syndicate operating in St. Louis and Chicago, will manage the new concern. It will be run as a first-class European hotel with a cafe on the ground floor. About $75,000 will be expended in improvements. The hotel is owned by a Boston syndicate under a 99-year lease.

All of the parties concerned in the deal were seen Tuesday and admitted that the deal was on. Mr. Otto L. Mersman of the firm of Nelson & Mersman, which has been conducting the real estate end of the negotiations would not tell the exact terms of the transfer. He said he would rather wait until the papers in the transaction have been signed. Mr. Tommerson said that the papers have not yet been signed for the transferrance of the property, and for this reason did not wish to talk of the deal. Messrs. Howe and Chassaing, the present tenants of the Lindell Hotel, have been notified to step out, and they stand ready to leave the hotel at the shortest notice.

Monday's Auction Sales.

Several auction sales were successfully conducted by Love & Sons Monday. The handsome residence at 4060 West Belle place was sold to F. W. Birch for $8,000. This building is a two-story and attic pressed brick structure containing eleven rooms with electric light wires and hot and cold water fixtures. It has a frontage of 37½ feet, and rents for $75 a month.

The premises at 115, 117 and 119 South Main street, a three-story building, went to D. Morton for $2,250. Two fifty-foot lots on the south side of Laclede avenue, east of Newstead, and a row of three-story business houses at 212, 214, 216 and 218 Olive street were advertised to be sold Monday, but the auction was withdrawn owing to the small number of bidders present.

A permit has been secured by the congregation of the First Church of Christ for the erection of a new church at a cost of $15,000, on Pine, between Twenty-seventh and Twenty-eighth streets.

The premises at 1309 Market street, a part of the Heitmeyer estate, will be sold at auction by Phil Chew on July 13, at 2 o'clock. The building is a three-story brick and the lot measures 27½x72½ feet.

Contracts will be let this week for the erection of a theater on the northwest corner of Ninth and Market streets. M. Hilton, the attorney, is conducting the plans for the new building.

Agents' Reports.

Gambrill & McDowall report the sale of 60x155 feet on the north side of Finney avenue, 250 feet west of King's highway, from F. M. Call to Wm. J. Brosfield, who purchased as an investment. This is Mr. Brosfield's first purchase in St. Louis, he having recently removed to the city from Marshall, Mo. This firm has also sold 40x155 feet on the north side of Finney avenue, adjoining the above on the east, from F. M. Call to a client, for $2,020. The purchaser will improve with a residence.

ONE-LEGGED MINSTREL.

He Failed to Make a Hit With the Workhouse Guards.

William Bagberger, a one-legged individual with no settled place of abode, recently discharged from the Work-house, hobbled down there Monday afternoon, and, seating himself on the bluff overlooking the quarry, treated the 100 or more prisoners at work below him to a serenade on an accordeon. The prisoners appreciated the music to such an extent that they stopped work to listen and refused to resume their toil as long as the wandering minstrel continued to play. The guards, however, were not so appreciative and they ordered Bagberger away. He refused and was arrested.

In the First District Police Court Tuesday Bagberger told Judge Peabody that the only reason he went there was because he liked several of the prisoners and wished to serenade them.

The Judge gave him a $10 fine to enable him to resume the acquaintance.

SORES OF OUR SOCIAL SYSTEM.

Supreme Justice Brown Talks to the Yale Graduates.

CAPITAL AND LABOR STRIFE.

The Growth of the Great Trusts Is Now Alarming, and May Be Revolutionary.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW HAVEN Conn., June 24.—Associate Justice Henry B. Brown of the United States Supreme Court addressed the graduates at the Yale law school commencement. His speech was remarkable for its exposition of the justice's position on some pressing problems, and as an extension of the remarks he made recently when the Supreme Court passed upon the income tax.

Justice Brown traced social and mercantile development in the century. Then he dealt with municipal corruption and corporate greed, and touched upon the labor question. He said:

"While the signs of the material development and prosperity of the country were never more auspicious than at present, it is not to be denied that the tendencies of the past thirty years have produced a state of social unrest which augurs ill for its future tranquility. The processes of combination have resulted not only in putting practically the entire manufacturing industry of the country into the hands of the corporations, but have enabled the latter to put an end to competition among themselves by the creation of trusts to monopolize the production of a particular article. Upon the other hand, labor, taking its cue from capital, though more slowly, is gradually consolidating its various trade unions, with the avowed objects of dictating the terms upon which the productive and transportation industry of the country shall be carried on. The reconciliation of this strife, if reconciliation be possible, is the great social problem which will confront you as you enter upon the stage of professional life."

"While I feel assured that the social disquietude does not point to the destruction of private property, I do not think it probable that it will result in the gradual enlargement of the functions of government and to the ultimate control of natural monopolies. If the government may be safely intrusted with the transmission of our letters and papers, I see no reason why it may not also be entrusted with our telegrams and parcels, as is almost universally the case in England, or with our passengers and freight, through a State ownership of railways, as in Germany, France, Austria, Sweden and Norway. If the State owns its highways, why may it not also own its railways? If a municipality owns its streets, and keeps them paved, sewered and cleansed, why may it not also light them, water them, and transport its citizens over them?"

After referring to the manner in which corporate powers are secured and used for dishonest purposes, Justice Brown said: "Worse than this, however, is the combination of corporations in so-called trusts to limit production, stifle competition and monopolize the necessaries of life. The extent to which this has already been carried is alarming—the extent to which it may hereafter be carried is revolutionary. Indeed, the evils of aggregated wealth are nowhere seen in more odious form. If no student can light his lamp without paying tribute to one company; of no housekeeper can buy a pound of meat or of sugar without swelling the receipts of two or three all-pervading trusts, what is to prevent the entire productive industry of the country becoming ultimately absorbed by a hundred gigantic corporations?

"In dealing with the evils which threaten our future tranquility you ought to find, and doubtless will find, an efficient coadjutor in a free press. Indeed, the bar and the press are the great safeguards of liberty. With all their faults, newspapers are indispensable, and life would lose half its charm without our morning journals. Let it be said to their credit that at times of great popular outcry against abuses their voice is generally upon the side of reform."

VETOED BY ALTGELD.

Says the Lowenthal Gas Frontage Bill Fosters Monopolies.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., June 25.—Gov. Altgeld yesterday vetoed the Lowenthal "gas frontage" bill, which he claims would give present illuminating companies a monopoly, the bill providing for the examination and licensing of horseshoers and the fire escape bills approved were:

Senate bill 403, making appropriation for repairs, etc., in the State charitable institutions.

Frank Van Sickle Attempts to Murder His Family and Burn Himself.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

HASTINGS, Neb., June 25.—Frank Van Sickle, a young farmer living west of this city, was overcome by the heat yesterday so that his reason was affected. During the night he attempted to murder his wife and child, but they made their escape and aroused the neighbors. Several men went to the house and, found it on fire, with Van Sickle lying at the foot of the stairs burned in a horrible manner. The fire was extinguished and the unfortunate man cared for the best he could be under the circumstances. He had taken the lamp, poured the oil over his legs and set himself on fire. The flesh was burned off his legs and his body was also badly burned. It is not likely he can live through the day.

REVOLVER VS. AX.

A Probably Fatal Encounter Between Two Women.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

AURORA, Mo., June 25.—A desperate encounter took place last night between Mrs. John Wilver and Mrs. John Hanson, who reside in the north part of the camp, upon what is known as the Black Land. Mrs. Hanson was of the opinion that the other woman was endeavoring to win the affections of her husband, and taking a sharp ax she went to the latter's house and made a furious onslaught on her. Mrs. Wilver got a 38-caliber revolver and began shooting at her assailant. The first bullet struck and almost severed the ax handle, while a second struck Mrs. Hanson's upper lip, shattering the jaw and lodging in the back of the head near the base of the skull. There is very little hope entertained of her recovery. The Wilver woman was arrested to await the result of her shooting, which she claims was done in self-defense.

NEEDS MORE RAIN.

The Illinois Weekly Crop Bulletin on Grain.

CHICAGO, June 25.—The Illinois weekly crop bulletin issued to-day says:

The past week has been an excellent one for growth and harvest. Much good resulted from the showers, but the lack of heavy general rains is severely felt in all but a few favored southern counties. The wheat harvest continues in central and southern counties, and the yield everywhere is light and the quality unusually poor. Rye is also being cut, with fair yield, but heads are poorly filled. Some threshing and much stacking of wheat will be done in south central counties during the week. Oats are ripening fast in southern counties and cutting will probably begin during the coming week. Bugs are adding damage to the short straw in oat-hay many fields are being pastured. Corn is generally doing well, fields are exceptionally clean, and where rain fell plants are vigorous. In the wheat sections damage is being done by chinch bugs and more harm seems possible now that wheat is cut. Potatoes and gardens are considerably revived by the rain, pastures also in southern counties, but hay is very short.

LOOK BETTER.

The Crop Prospects in the State of Missouri.

COLUMBIA, Mo., June 25.—The Missouri weather crop bulletin for the week says. Although considerable damage was done by wind to crops, fruit trees and buildings in a number of the Western counties, and harvest and corn plowing were delayed by rains in some of the Western, central and Southern counties, the past week has, on the whole, been very favorable to the farmer. The mean temerature was very nea the normal in all sections, while the precipitation was considerably in excess of the season average. In a few of the east-central counties, however, more rain is needed. The wheat and rye harvest is well advanced except in some of the extreme northern counties, and a number of corre spondents report that wheat is turning out better than expected.

Corn has become foul in some districts, but generally the crop is in fine condition and growing rapidly.

Oats, meadows and pastures are greatly improved since the late rains, and flax is doing well.

MOST CHEERFUL.

Outlook for Crops in Iowa, According to the Weekly Report.

DES MOINES, Io., June 25.—The Iowa weekly crop report, issued to-day, says:

This has been one of the best weeks of a most propitious season, with weather conditions all that could be desired over the greater part of the State. The only complaints have been of an excess of moisture, causing too rank a growth of grain in the Northwest, and a deficiency of rainfall in some of the eastern counties.

All crops have made good progress. Corn has attained more than an average height for the season. In some fields it is reported to large to cultivate within thirty days after planting.

Oats are in full head and harvest of the earliest fields will begin within two weeks. The present condition of this cereal justifies the promise of the largest crop of oats ever harvested in this State.

Other spring grain crops are also in good condition. The harvest of fall wheat is in progress in the southern districts and the yield of wheat promises to be better than was anticipated.

HOWGATE TO APPEAL.

Will Make a Fight on the Fugitive From Justice Question.

WASHINGTON, June 25.—The case of Capt. Henry W. Howgate, recently convicted in the Criminal Court of forgery and falsification of Government accounts, will probably be taken up in the District Court of Appeals the first week in October. His counsel are preparing a bill of exceptions to carry the case to the higher court. The strongest fight being made is the "fugitive from justice" question. It will be contended that Howgate was fully entitled to the benefits of the statutes of limitation. The sentence may be pronounced by Judge McComas during the present week. The offenses of which Capt. Howgate was convicted make him liable to a sentence of from one to twenty years' imprisonment on each of the two indictments. It is understood ball will be refused if proffered.

Burglars Dallied at the Sideboard Too Long.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 25.—Burglars entered seven houses at Hackensack Sunday night, all on Euclid avenue, houses that had sideboards in them. They made up a number of bundles of clothing and the like plunder, and placed them on the front stoops, ready to be carried away. Then they went back and sampled the sideboards. They dallied with them so long that they could barely navigate themselves, and had to leave the bundles until they were sober.

Was in the Mormon Trouble.

DENVER, Colo., June 25.—Damian Hauser, who has just died in Highlands, aged 82, formerly a resident of Quincy, Ill., was a Lieutenant in the Illinois State troops who drove the Mormons out of that State in 1843 and took part in the attack on the barn near Nauvoo when Joseph Smith, the first prophet of Mormonism, was shot dead.

Again Convicted of Murder.

ATLANTA, Ga., June 25.—Wm. G. Meyers, aged 19, who enticed Forest Crowley into the woods and murdered and robbed him last fall, was found to-day guilty of murder in the first degree. This is the second time he has been tried and found guilty. His attorneys will again appeal the case.

HORSES' HEADS WERE BUMPED.

Galen Brown Will Demand Satisfaction From the Express Co.

TRIALS OF THE TURFITE.

Horses Were Placed in a Low Car at Mattoon and, Brown Says, Were Delayed and Injured.

Turfman J. G. Brown and his partner, W. H. Arkenburg, have announced their intention of consulting an attorney to-day in reference to bringing suit against the American Express Co. for the delay and inconvenience they were subjected to while shipping their horses from Chicago to St. Louis Sunday. According to Mr. Arkenburg, he consigned eight horses to the express company in Chicago Saturday and was given a through bill of freight for his consignment to arrive here at 7:35 o'clock Sunday morning. The car in which the horses were being shipped was hauled to Mattoon, Ill., on the Illinois Central road.

"When we got there," said Mr. Arkenburg, "the car was to have been transferred to the Big Four road, but officials of this line refused to accept the car because it was not fitted with an air whistle and a Jenney automatic coupler. I did not know anything about that, but the Big Four people were obstinate and they informed me that they had given previous notice to the express company that no cars would be handled unless their instructions were complied with. The result was I had to lay over at Mattoon for twelve hours, while the express company were fixing up stalls in a baggage car for my horses.

"When the job was completed the Big Four accepted the car and hauled me to St. Louis. The baggage car was not high enough to ship horses in and our animals bumped their heads against the roof every time they raised them.

"I got here Sunday night just twelve or fifteen hours behind time. While at Mattoon our horses laid over in the hot sun. We expected to commence racing them Tuesday, but the handicap of the trip will knock them out for some time to come, at a corresponding loss to Mr. Brown and myself."

Mr. Arkenburg explained his troubles to Secretary Gwynn at the Fair Grounds yesterday and asked to be directed to a lawyer. Mr. Gwynn recommended one and the matter will be given into his hands to-day.

RICE'S WHISKERS.

They Are the Arkansas Turfman's Most Valued Possession.

cuit. Besides his race horses the captain owns an immense cotton plantation near Little Rock, but, undoubtedly, his most valued possession is his tremendous crop of whiskers. They reach below his knees and are so lengthy that the captain's friends are afraid that his legs will get tangled up with them some day. Naturally, the consequences would be disastrous. Rice was ruled off "for pulling his whiskers" is a race track gag known from St. Paul to New Orleans.

When Charles I. Was Beheaded, only one man in the vast crowd present knew why the blood spurted from the Monarch's discerned arteries—namely, Dr. Harvey, the Court Physician, who discovered the circulation of the blood.

For asserting this fact he was reviled and persecuted, and came near to losing his own head. But the world has grown more intelligent and broad-minded since then, and when the shakers of Mt. Lebanon (N. Y.) announced their discovery of an absolute remedy for indigestion and dyspepsia it was welcomed both by the people and the physicians.

For ages dyspepsia has been the beta noire, the black beast, the bug-bear of the medical profession. We know it to be the real cause of nine-tenths of our ailments, yet have never been able to master it. Its symptoms are numerous and perplexing—many of them falsely considered (and wrongly treated) as distinct diseases. Among them are: Distress after eating; sickness and nausea; pains in the head, chest, sides and back; bad taste in the mouth and offensive gas rising to the throat; costiveness and irregularity of the bowels; variable appetite; heartburn and palpitation; sick headache; ringing in the ears; nervousness and loss of sleep; weakness and mental depression, etc.

The Shaker Digestive Cordial relieves and cures this condition as nothing else ever did. It is prepared with rare mountain herbs, cultivated by the Shakers. For many years this people have studied the disease and humbly and faithfully sought the remedy. Having found and tested it they confidentially offer it to a world—full of sufferers. None who try it will be disappointed. It relieves immediately.

That you may learn whether it is adapted to your case the Shakers have placed trial bottles on the market at 10 cents—for sale by nearly all druggists.

SAN FRANCISCO—The winners—May Cook, Spry Lark, Jerome S., Crawford, Installator.

SOUTH SIDE—The winners—J. I. C., Jr., Lizzie B., Mamie Duffy, Gabe Riley.

Track Talk.

The Harlem track may open Saturday with $300 and $400 purses, and no betting will be allowed.

Gov. Matthews has secured another court injunction against racing at the Roby track in Indiana.

They expect forty or fifty books to weigh in at Detroit to-day. Somebody will be disappointed.

Yo Tambien was a very sick mare Saturday, but she has shown some improvement since. The Kendall Stable will go to Oakley as soon as she recovers.

"Majah" Covington, Green Morris' old jockey, made his appearance in the saddle at the Fair Grounds yesterday, and rode Janus to victory.

Maid Marian ran seven furlongs in 1:27 flat at the Fair Grounds yesterday. This is the track record for the distance.

Green Morris' 2-year-old Dare Dollar is by Darebin out of Trade Dollar, who is the dam of Gold Dollar and Simmons.

Tod Sloan was at the Fair Grounds yesterday renewing old acquaintances. He has promised to ride Pearson in a race this week.

Sumo, Handsome, Havoc, Maurice, Halfing, Diggs, Lissak and Frank K. are carded to start in the $5,000 derby to be run at Detroit to-day.

The Hawthorne Racing Association has declared off all its stake events to be run this season. Joe Ullman will refund money bet in his book on the result of the Ullman handicap.

HOLLIDAY ON DECK.

Bug Will Resume His Place With the Cincinnatis To-Day.

After nearly two months of enforced idleness Bug Holliday will resume his place on the Cincinnatti team this afternoon. Bug is very eager to get back into harness. He has been fretting and fuming about his long lay off for the last two weeks. It will not be a case of going from a sick bed to the ball field. Bug has been practising for three weeks. Every morning, in company with Morgan Murphy, he has gone to the ball park and put in two hours of solid practice. The only evidence of his recent sickness that remains is his shortness of wind. Bug can't run and bat very long at a time without "having bellows to mend." He hasn't quite regained all his strength, but he is improving every day. He will add strength where strength is needed. The team's weakness has been at the bat. Bug will help out with many a base hit. He is the best batter on the team.

COMISKEY HERE.

Ex-Captain and First Baseman of the Old Browns Talked Interestingly.

Charlie Comiskey, the captain and manager of the old Browns when they were world-beaters, was in the city Monday, having come down from Kansas City to look for some outfielders, but he was unsuccessful in his search. "Commy" spent the day chatting with old friends about his present good fortune in St. Paul and recalling memories of the Browns.

"We have good prospects in St. Paul," he said, "and are drawing great crowds. We have Sunday games there, but the attendance is nearly as large on Saturdays. The last Saturday we played at home there were 4,200 spectators present. At Kansas City last Saturday we had an attendance of 6,300.

"Indianapolis has a lead of five or six games in the Western League and the next six clubs are bunched, with only two or three games between them. Every day's play makes a change in the standing. When I left St. Paul we were second; but we lost three games and that threw us back to fourth. Toledo trails five or six games behind the bunch.

"My team is all right and my four pitchers are doing well, but I need a fielder or two.

JUST A SLIP.

The Nominantion of Professionals for International Races a Mistake.

The nomination of Harry Wheeler, Geo. A. Banker and John S. Johnson by the League of American Wheelmen as representatives to compete in the international races at Cologne for the Saltonstall international trophy, carrying with it the title of champion of the world, is evidently an unfortunate slip on the part of the author of the mandate. The three men named are not eligible to compete for the trophy, or represent this country at the coming meet in Cologne, as they are professionals.

The first paragraph in the racing rules of the International Cyclist Association says that it is an association of the "recognized governing bodies of amateur cycling sport throughout the world," and is formed expressly "for the holding of the amateur cycling championships of the world." Happily the "nominations are not closed," and with an abundance of good amateur talent at hand the officials will set about selecting men to worthily represent the United States at the international meet.

PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

West End Athletic Club Will Organize Next Monday Evening.

A successful beginning for the formation of the new West End Athletic Club was made at the meeting in the Pastime Clubhouse, Monday evening. The subscription lists were turned in and it was found that 240 signatures had already been obtained. The plans of organization and a few details were discussed and it was decided to adjourn until next Monday evening, when the organization will be effected if 500 members have been received by that time.

During the coming week the promoters will work among those who have been holding off to see if the club would be a certainty, and the prospects for securing the needed number are bright. All are confident that the handsome club-house and grounds will be saved for athletics.

CREEDON VICTORIOUS.

Won the Middleweight Championship of America in Boston.

Dan Creedon made short work of Billy Hennessy before the Suffolk Club of Boston Monday evening for the middleweight championship of America. The fight was to be twenty rounds, but Dan had his man out in the sixth.

Hennessy was never in it, except in the first, when he nearly floored Dan, and by the fifth he was as good as done for.

LANDED ON HIS HIP.

Dahlen Was Anything but Gentle Running Into George Tebeau.

Hostilities broke out in the sixth inning of Sunday's game between Chicago and Cleveland at the Windy City. In this inning, after two Chicago batters had struck out, Dahlen hit at McKean. The shortstop had an off day in throwing, and after steadying himself he let it go, but not so true but that George Tebeau had to leave the base to get it. The ball and Dahlen reached Tebeau at one and the same time. The ball hit him in the outstretched hands and Mr. Dahlen landed on the hip. The result was a confused mass of fielder, base runner and base ball on the ground. When Tebeau got to his feet his thoughts were anything but saintly. A moment later Wallace threw to catch Dahlen napping, and as the Chicago short stop darted back to the base he again collided with Tebeau, and the latter went off his balance. Tebeau was first to get up, and as he arose he began a vigorous warfare on Dahlen's shins. Whether he was trying to spike the prostrate runner (the thing which ball players always dread when on the ground) is only conjectural. Certain it is the instant that Dahlen got to his feet he drew back and aimed a blow at the first baseman that must have knocked the latter cold had it landed, but it did not. For a moment it looked certain that the pair would engage in a regular fight, but hostilities were carried no further than a threatening conversation as to events in store for each other when next they met, etc.

IS NOT INTERESTED.

Business Men's League Not Concerned About the Terminal Overcharges.

With regard to the action contemplated by the Manufacturers' Association against the Terminal combine, President Sam M. Kennard of the Business Men's League makes this statement regarding the published assertion that "allied with the Manufacturers' Association in this crusade against the Terminal grabbers is the Business Men's League. Traffic Manager Joseph F. Leeds of the Traffic Department of the organization has been actively associated with Secretary Cannon and the Investigating Committee of the Manufacturers' Association in gathering evidence of overcharges and extortions."

"You have been misinformed in regard to this matter, the statement being entirely inaccurate. We are not allied with any one in any crusade, and it is the object of the league to build up and not tear down, and to secure by every possible means the best railroad and terminal facilities for all mercantile and manufacturing interests in St. Louis, in which effort we expect and hope to have the co-operation of the railroad and allied interests."

BILL WHITE CUT DOWN.

Dade's Consistent Old Horse Severely Injured at the Fair Grounds.

A. B. Dade's consistent old chestnut horse, Bill White, by Sensation, was badly cut down in the first race at the Fair Grounds yesterday. He got off in front and one of the horses behind him jumped on his right hind leg, before they ran the quarter. Bill then fell back and ran the rest of the race on three legs. After passing the finishing line he staggered over the track and fell against the fence, which incloses the jockey's paddock. From the stand it looked as though the lower part of the leg was broken off, and it will be a long time before he starts again, if he ever does. Bill White has been one of the most consistent performers at the meeting, and the misfortune that has befallen him is universally regretted. He has started as often, almost, as any horse in the West this season, and few have been in the money more frequently.

DIRNBERGER'S RECORDS.

Racing Board Now Passing on Michael's Claims for Marks.

The L. A. W. Racing Board is now voting on M. F. Dirnberger's claims for records made in Louisville, May 30 and 31. He rode two-thirds of a mile in 1m. 9 4-5s. and two miles in 3m. 61 4-5s. paced, flying start. Dirnberger did not comply with the strict letter of the law, but his performances were bona fide. The only question with the board is the matter of establishing a precedent.

Chris Von der Ahe's denies that he will release Miller or that he intended to release him.

Will Arrest Claimant Reavis.

SANTA FE, N. M., June 25.—The Justices of the Court of Private Land Claims are unanimous in their decision rejecting the claim of James Addison Reavis to the barony of Arizona. They will file a written opinion at the next term of court. A warrant has been issued by United States Commissioner William H. Pope charging James Addison Peralta-Reavis with filing in the Court of Private Land Claims a claim against the United States for the purpose of falsely, fraudulently and fictitiously obtaining from the United States a large sum, which is nominally set down at $100,000. Ever since the trial ended Reavis has been watched by a Deputy United States Marshal.

Over the Refuge Wall.

Bertha Schoucatte, aged 13 years, and an inmate of the House of Refuge, made her escape yesterday afternoon from that institution by scaling the wall. Two girl friends assisted her with the understanding that she lend a kindly hand when once on the top wall. When Bertha had reached that point of vantage she decided that in her case it was better to escape singly, and she left her companions in the lurch. Half an hour afterwards when she was missed she was beyond reach. Bertha's parents live at Third nd Convent streets. Mayor Walbridge sent her to the House of Refuge four months ago.

SENATOR VEST SPEAKS OUT.

The Post-Dispatch publishes to-day an interview with Senator Vest in which he gives a strong, striking and comprehensive view of the monetary situation in general and especially in Missouri.

In this first utterance since the agitation of the question of holding a Democratic State Convention to express the conviction of the party, the junior Missouri Senator makes conclusive answer to the charge that he is skulking on the money issue. He announces himself unalterably opposed to gold monometallism or to any compromise or straddle, and places himself squarely on a free silver coinage platform.

Senator Vest sums up briefly but tellingly the salient points on both sides of the controversy. He shows the ruinous effect of gold monometallism and the degrading bondage to England in which it keeps this country. He meets the objections to silver coinage, showing by clear reasoning and historical illustration that the disasters predicted in the event of its success will not happen, and that even if they do they will not equal the disasters already suffered under a gold standard.

The Senator puts a great truth in a striking form when he says that free coinage offers an opportunity to the United States to become the commercial and financial mistress of the world. He strongly defines the irrepressible nature of the struggle for bimetallism when he says: "It is the old fight—old as our race—between the masses and those who attempt to use governmental power for self-aggrandizement."

But of paramount importance to Missouri Democrats is Senator Vest's unequivocal declaration in favor of a State convention as now, in view of the demand of the voters, a practical necessity to prevent disastrous consequences.

The State Committee cannot fail to see the force of the Senator's opinion and the interview will have a stimulating effect on the Missouri Democracy.

BUILDING IN ST. LOUIS.

When the assessors found 953 buildings in course of erection in this city on June 1 they discovered the crowning proof both of the solid growth and prosperity of St. Louis and of the genuineness of the revival of business confidence and activity.

Realty and building interests are the first to feel the pinch of depression and the last to recover from it. The fact, therefore, that 953 new buildings are being put up in St. Louis at an estimated cost of $5,500,000 is conclusive evidence of faith in St. Louis and renewed confidence in the business outlook. As a stimulus to general business activity it is a factor of great potency.

It is interesting to compare this evidence of vigorous life in St. Louis with the evdence of Chicago's deadness. Chicago is overbuilt. Tenants for vacant buildings and offices cannot be found upon any terms. Prices and rents have been cut in half. But leaving poor Chicago out of comparison, it is doubtful if there is a city in the Union which can make a showing equal to that of St. Louis in building activity.

WHERE THEY ARE GOING.

There is no occasion for surprise in the statement of Frank P. O'Brien, editor of the Birmingham (Ala.) Age-Herald, a Democratic gold standard organ, that "the 'sound money' Democrats have combined with the 'sound money' Republicans of Alabama to prevent the election of any silverites in that State."

Whether Mr. O'Brien's statement is true at the present time or not is a matter of slight importance. It undoubtedly foreshadows one inevitable consequence of the campaign for gold monometallism. There is no politics in the gold propaganda. It appeals to no sentiment except self-interest and that is a magnet strong enough to draw together from all parties men with the one selfish purpose in common. The bond of greed is irresistible. It is just as impossible for "sound money" Democrats and "sound money" Republicans to keep apart as for foxes and geese and hawks and chickens to amicably consort together.

The gold standard men are at home in the Republican party. Its plutocratic purposes are in harmony with their own. They are not at home in the Democratic party, whose principles are at variance with their objects. Wherever, therefore, Democrats are in control of the Democratic organization the gold standard members of the party are bound to split off and join the Republicans. Carlisle has already threatened it.

IN RE CARROLL.

Col. John H. Carroll, member of the Democratic State Central Committee for the First District, has an interview in this morning's Republic. It begins with a misstatement intended to deceive. Col. Carroll may have been "summoned home by a telegram" before the question of calling a convention was voted on by the committee, but he was in the Southern Hotel at the time the vote was taken, and was in constant communication with the committee through a messenger boy. He dodged the vote himself, but took care to give his proxy to Mr. F. W. Lehman, who it had been arranged should not only vote but should also speak against calling a convention.

For the rest, Col. Carroll's intefview is not important. It is doubtful if there are two persons in Missouri who care a copper for his opinions on the silver question or any other question not connected with lobbying or with the right of railroad attorneys to run conventions and dictate nominations. The strong probability is that he knows nothing about the silver question and cares less. He is on the State Committee for purposes which are pretty well understood, and which will be understood fully before the Post-Dispatch finishes the work which it has only just begun.

What is of most interest in the Carroll interview is his statement that he is of the same mind with Chairman Mamitt in regard to calling a State convention. "If a majority of the counties in the State, through their county committees, will ask for a re-assembling of the State Committee to call a convention, it will re-assemble and the convention will doubtless be called." He adds that if a majority of the counties in his district wish him to vote for a convention he will do so.

This is sufficient. The Post-Dispatch's information is that all the counties in Col. Carroll's district except Clark and Lewis have already declared for a convention. Col. Carroll in his interview cites the adverse action of Clay and Clinton counties. These counties are not in his district, but in the Third, and a majority of the counties in the Third District have also declared for a convention.

It is evident from the interview that Col. Carroll has seen the folly of further championship of his scheme to delay the holding of the convention. He now says, "If it is called, it should be called to meet as soon as convenient. * * * Whether the middle of August would be late enough I really could not say. It should be at a time, however, to suit the farmers, as the people in the cities and villages can get away at any time." Of course Col. Carroll knows that January would not suit the farmers.

This is one of several indications that the committee, having broken away from the dictation of its boss, is returning to a common-sense view of its duty.

A CHANCE FOR THE SULTAN.

Before appointing a successor to the late Said Pasha in the office of Grand Vizier the Sultan of Turkey would do well to consider the qualifications of Judge Peabody of the Central District Police Court of this city for the place.

The Post-Dispatch does not recommend Judge Peabody to the Sultan's attention solely because with superb hauteur he snubbed a policeman who had dared in the performance of his duty to arrest one of his friends. That was a mere ornamentation, a painting of the lily, a gilding of refined gold, which lends an air of Oriental gorgeousness to the solid qualities which fit him to shine as an official jewel in the crown of Turkish despotism.

Unless reports have grossly misrepresented Judge Peabody, the Sultan could learn more about Oriental methods of dispensing justice by one day of observation in the Judge's court than by fifty years of experience in his own court. It is doubtful if a careful study of the Arabian Nights Tales and of the examples of Oriental cadis unearthed by the good Haroun al Raschid in his prowls around Bagdad would discover his equal.

It is said that if Judge Peabody likes not the cut of a prisoner's beard it is woe to him; if he likes not the face of his lawyer he suffers even greater woe. It is said that no enemy is safe and no friend is in danger within the sweep of his sword of justice.

Whether these sayings be true or not, we feel sure that should the Sultan watch Judge Peabody for a few days, if he could not appoint him to the place of the late Said Pasha he would at least recommend him for the title role of the comic opera of the same name.

Gen. W. B. Haldeman, who has had the management of Mr. Clay's campaign in Kentucky, is one of the shrewdest political leaders in the State, and this fact may account for much of the goldbug music over there. No more active campaign has ever been made than that of the bugs, and it is no wonder that a wrong impression as to Kentucky sentiment should have gone abroad.

Representative McCreary, who wants to step into Senator Blackburn's shoes, expresses the opinion that the signs are favorable for an international monetary conference. Very likely they are, but it will be well for the silver men of Kentucky not to let this oily statesman jolly them over-much. We want American independence quite as much as we want an international conference.

Associate Justice Brown of the Supreme Court, in his address at Yale, warns greedy corporations of the possibility of their property passing into the hands of the Government. Justice Brown is the Judge who declared that the Supreme Court decision on the income tax law "struck at the very foundation of national authority."

"The record of the great Kentuckian who is at the head of the Treasury must be approved or rejected by the Democratic convention of Kentucky," says the Courier-Journal. As Mr. Carlisle's record has already been rejected in his own district, the remainder of the State should have no hesitation in doing the right thing also.

The silver Republicans of Minnesota appear inclined to make themselves heard, and it is to be hoped that they will do so. The blind following of a party without regard to the country's interests should cease everywhere, and the Minnesota silver Republicans ought to improve the opportunity to set a good example.

To the journal that sincerely works in the interest of the public the people are always faithful. There is ample proof of this in the great circulation of the Post-Dispatch. Timidity in journalism is quickly observed by intelligent readers and they soon cease to respect mere personal or political organs.

For the second week in June all the St. Louis railroads except one report large increases in business over the corresponding week of last year. The one decrease amounted to only $5,670 and that was in a territory of slight importance to St. Louis commerce.

It is peculiarly humiliating that the existence of the United States Treasury reserve should depend wholly upon a syndicate managed by foreigners. The independence of the greatest republic on earth is sacrificed to gold monometallism.

As Thomas Dolan, the great woolen manufacturer who thought that a reduced tariff "meant ruin," has just increased the wages of his employes 10 per cent, other timid protectionists may take heart.

There is peril enough on the lakes without making them additionally dangerous by boat-racing. The captain of a boat that races on the lakes is deserving of capital punishment.

The friends of the English sparrow should endeavor to explain why it is that the people of Brooklyn have to resort to safety torches to get rid of caterpillars in their shade trees.

In contemplating several of the members of the American Cabinet there are many good citizens who wish our Cabinets could be dissolved as easily as those of Great Britain.

The Post-Dispatch's great circulation is not merely an indication of improved times. A first-class newspaper which is also as cheap as the cheapest makes its way at all times.

There is a horrible state of affairs along the Chicago drainage canal. It is described as "thirty miles of crime." The canal itself is something of a crime.

Away From Home for the News.

Washington Correspondence Louisville Courier-Journal.

A report has reached here that ex-Gov. Francis of Missouri, who is chairman of the State Central Committee, has agreed to call a State convention to meet two months hence to consider the silver question. Secretary Carlisle will be urged to go to Missouri and make one or two speeches on the financial question. It is said Gov. Francis' object in calling a State convention is to take the wind out of the sails of any snap silver convention that may be sprung, such as was recently held at Springfield, Ill. His programme for a legitimate convention is said to meet the approval of the Administration. It is confidently asserted by Missouri Democrats here that if Secretary Carlisle will go to St. Louis and Kansas City and make a speech or two there will be no question but that the State at the coming convention will declare for sound money.

No Waiting Here.

We may see every river run back to its source;
We may see every bicycle change to a horse;
We may see every woman bewhiskered as man;
We may see ancient Nature reverse her whole plan;
But Missouri we'll never see sit down and wait
For the acts or ideas of some other State.

WELL-KNOWN ST. LOUISANS.

John H. Terry.

John H. Terry was born in a farm-house in Seneca County, N. Y., in 1837. During his boyhood he worked on the farm in summer and attended the district schools in winter. In 1860 he took up the study of law and had just begun practice when the war broke out. He served in the Army of the Potomac and was seriously wounded at the battle of Chancellorville. He came to St. Louis in 1865 with 30 cents in his pocket and three years later was elected to the Twenty-fifth General Assembly. He has held many political offices since. In 1872 he gave up law to enter the real estate business. Judge Terry has been twice married. His first wife was Miss Elizabeth Todd of St. Louis and the second was Miss Vashti Boardman of New York. He has four sons by his first wife.

SAT NEXT TO MRS. SIMPSON

And Mr. Simpson Stabbed Albert Clinton Through a Car Window.

Edward Simpson of 962 Chouteau avenue gave his wife permission to visit the South Side race track Monday evening while he went down town to get a pair of shoes fixed. He promised to meet her at 11 o'clock at Twelfth and Chouteau avenue. While waiting he saw her on a street car returning from the races, and, as he supposed, in company with an unknown man, who was sitting beside her. He flew into a jealous rage, and without demanding an explanation, he whipped out a huge knife, and, rushing to the car, reached through the open window and stabbed his supposed rival in the back, inflicting a severe, though not dangerous, wound.

Simpson made his escape. The wounded man was taken to the Dispensary, where he gave his name as Albert Clinton and said he was a waiter at the Southern Hotel. As his wounds were not serious he was placed under arrest pending an investigation. He denied having been in Mrs. Simpson's company. He just happened to occupy a seat next to her. Simpson was arrested about an hour later at his home.

When both were arraigned in the First District Police Court Tuesday Simpson admitted his mistake, saying he acted from jealous frenzy. Judge Peabody prescribed $10 as an antidote and discharged Clinton.

ARCHBISHOP KENRICK'S SEE.

The Venerable Prelate Is Now Archbishop of Marcianopolis.

Archbishop Kain spent Monday with the Franciscan Friars in South St. Louis. When he returned home in the evening he found the official documents declaring him Archbishop of St. Louis and translating his predecessor, Peter Richard Kenrick, to the See of Marcianopolis impartibus had arrived during his absence.

Archbishop Kain did not think it necessary to give out the Latin document of appointment for publication. It makes him, in an unqualified sense, Archbishop Kenrick's successor, and gives him the same right and title in matters spiritual and temporal as if his predecessor was dead.

The danger which threatened through loss of church property is averted, and when the case now pending in the Circuit Court comes to trial the legal removal of Archbishop Kenrick from his trusteeship will be followed by its bestowal on his properly qualified successor.

Archbishop Kain will not enjoy the complete spiritual powers pertaining to his new office until he receives the pallium, a cloak of lamb's wool, and the insignia of Archiepiscopal rank. A few days ago through his friend Cardinal Gibbons, who is now in Rome, he asked to be excused from petitioning for the pallium, a usual procedure following appointment, until after Archbishop Kenrick's death. The request was not granted, and the petition will therefore be sent within three months. The ceremony of conferring the pallium will not take place until late in the fall.

REDUCING THE RATES.

East-Bound Lines Meet the Cut of the Chicago.

General freight agents of the St. Louis east-bound lines Monday decided to issue reduced tariffs on fifth and sixth class freight, to bring the rates down to the same basis as that adopted by the Chicago lines last week. The fifth-class rate will drop from 35 cents per 100 to 29 cents; on sixth-class from 29 cents to 23 cents. The tariffs will go into effect Saturday next.

At Wednesday's meeting of executive officers something may be accomplished in the way of restoring rates to business-like figures, but no permanent improvement is expected before autumn.

The St. Louis and Missouri River lines report that all business contracted for at cut rate will be out of the way by Saturday, when rates will be restored and maintained.

TO BE LINED WITH IRON.

Cage at the Criminal Court Will Be Made More Secure.

Chief Deputy Sheriff Huebler, stationed at the Four Courts, decided Monday to insist upon the Building Commissioners lining the prisoners' cage in the Criminal Court with sheet iron. For the past three months the plastering has been dropping from the wall of the cage, exposing the lathes and rendering the cage somewhat insecure. On this account it has been necessary to place two Deputy Sheriffs on watch at the cage.

Capt. Huebler has for some time been trying to have the work done, but has not succeeded in convincing the proper officials of its necessity. The fact that the work is to be commenced shortly gave rise to the idea Monday afternoon that an attempt had been made by prisoners to escape. Deputy Sheriff Jacob Troll and Deputy Rollins were on watch Monday and declare there was nothing of the kind.

NOT THE BOARDERS.

But the Proprietors Who Left Everybody in the Lurch.

Seven months ago Mr. and Mrs. Alex Steiger came here from Denver and started a boarding-house at 2233-35 Chouteau avenue. The house was furnished with goods purchased from time-payment houses. The house soon had twenty to twenty-five boarders.

Two weeks ago Steiger persuaded the Lemp Brewery owners to put a stock of liquors in a vacant room on the first floor of the boarding-house, and a saloon was started. Charley Lehn was employed as bartender. Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Steiger skipped out and took a number of bottles of wine from the saloon, all the cash and also carried away money that had been paid by Louis Beal, Adolph Kupfer and others for board in advance. The Steigers owed George, the cook, $20, and Joe, the waiter, $10.

The wagon of the time-payment company has now taken away the furniture, on which there was a balance of $200 due. The owner of the premises closed the house on an unpaid rent bill of $180. The boarders had to seek other dwelling-places.

Brigadier French's Welcome.

Brig.-Gen. George French, commander of the Midland Division of the Salvation Army, was given a reception Monday night upon his return from New York, where he had been attending the National Congress of the Army of the United States. About 200 salvationists marched to the tune of a variety of instruments. The procession started at the barracks, 1417 Franklin avenue, and after a march through the principal down-town streets reached the new quarters at 1126 Pine street, where the "welcome" services were held. Mr. French's little child, Glyndon, participated in the services. Addresses and singing made up the programme of the evening, which all seemed to enjoy.

An Alleged Straw Bond.

An alleged straw bond given in the case of Julius Wensberg, charged with receiving stolen property, has gotten Jacob Silverberg, a clothing dealer at 711 St. Charles street, into trouble. When Wensberg, with Sam Siegel, was arrested for receiving stolen property worth $250 May 12 Silverberg qualified as bondsman for $300 and swore that he owned a piece of property worth $5,000 at 808 O'Fallon street. An examination of the records revealed that the property was mortgaged. When the case was called Monday Silverberg failed to show up. If Silverberg is found to be insolvent, criminal action will be brought against him.

Struck by an Electric Lamp.

About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, one of the stake wagons of the Hamilton-Brown Shoe Co. ran up against an electric light post at the corner of Washington av enue and Broadway. In the collision the drum which carries the small wire cable by which the lamps are hauled up and down was knocked off, and the shock immediately started the lamp downward. It fell on Mrs. Caroline Tuescher of Jennings Station, who happened to cross the street at the time. Mrs. Tuescher was severely cut and bruised about the head and face.

New Presbyterian Preachers.

At an adjourned meeting of the St. Louis Presbytery G. W. Jackson, a graduate of McCormick Seminary, was licensed. F. Allen, a colored minister, was ordained, but his licensing was postponed until the next meeting of the Presbytery, the third Monday in July.

IS ADAM FUCHS A BRUTE?

Parents of 14-Year-Old Helena Keigel Make Serious Charges.

Helena Keigel, a 14-year-old girl, was taken to the City Dispensary Tuesday a. m. by her foster father, Peter Stubenrauch, who charged that she had been criminally assaulted by Adam Fuchs. Dr. H. B. Mack examined the child and found indisputable evidence that she had been violated within twenty-four hours.

Stubenrauch lives with his wife at 101 Barton street. Helena Keigel is an orphan. The Stubenrauchs adopted her and Mr. Stubenrauch is her lawful guardian. Fuchs boards at the house.

After supper Monday Mr. and Mrs. Stubenrauch and Fuchs were sitting in the back yard. Helena was washing dishes upstairs. Fuchs got up and went upstairs. After he had been gone some time Mrs. Stubenrauch had occasion to go to the kitchen. Before reaching it she heard the child cry out. Entering the room, she claims, she caught Fuchs with his clothes disarranged in the act of outraging the girl.

The girl, when questioned at the Dispensary, seemed to be dull and lacking in intelligence. She said that Fuchs had made two or three attempts, using force, to make her yield, and threatening her if she told before he finally accomplished his purpose.

Fuchs left the house hurriedly after he was surprised, and has not been arrested.

When Stubenrauch called on Assistant Prosecuting Attorney Johnson that gentleman told him to bring his wife down to swear to the information.

ALL IN HIS VOICE,

And so the Judge Fined Herman Obermeyer.

Hermann Obermeyer's method of expression cost him $10 in the Second District Police Court Tuesday. Obermeyer is dead tough. His under lip swings like the door of a patent mouse trap when he talks and his voice resembles an ill-tuned kazoo.

June 2, A. B. Guthrie complained on the witness stand, while driving on Twenty-second street, near Lucas avenue, he saw Obermeyer insulting some young ladies. Obermeyer's voice persuaded Guthrie that it would be safe for him not to leave his rig and protect the young ladies, so he drove into the crowd, separating the tormentor from the tormented. Obermeyer was going to cut Guthrie's heart out and stuff it when Sergt. Landers arrived on the scene and prevented his carrying his assertion out.

"Dats wat y' did. Y' was goin' to run me down 'fer speakin' t' some young lady frens o' mine," said Obermeyer on the witness stand. "My record's good; I'm not a bad man."

"Your voice is too convincing," said the Judge, and then he wrote $10 on the book.

SUMMER NIGHT MUSIC.

Apollo Club Favors Residents of the West End.

Music on summer nights is the sweetest thing under the stars, and that is why the Apollo Club has sernade nights in summer and treat their friends to al fresco concerts on their front lawns.

Wayfarers in Westminster place and along Lindell boulevard last evening enjoyed an unlooked-for treat. It was the club's serenade night, and they made the fashionable West End neighborhood ring with melody. The club glided from house to house in open carriages fitted with rubber tires. They serenaded Mrs. Hughes of Westmorland Place, Mr. August Gehner, Mrs. Charles B. Hinsman and Mrs. F. A. Bensberg of Lindell boulevard, Mr. F. W. Humphrey of West Pine street and wound up at the home of Director Robyn's father.

The effect of sixty well blended and modulated voices in the stillness of the night was irresistibly attractive. As the melody floated out crowds drew near for blocks around and even in the aristocratic quarter followed the serenaders on their rounds. The club exhausted its lengthy repertoire in the trip, but did not sing half long enough to suit those who had the pleasure of hearing them.

MAY, NOT REOPEN.

Fake Mining Exchanges Tired of Running Up Against Police Raids.

Although the May Grand-jury ignored the charges against proprietors of the fake tape mining stock exchanges, none of these establishments have yet been reopened. It was given out before the Grand-jury reported that the places would re-open Monday, provided the charges were ignored. Inquiry by a Post-Dispatch reporter Monday afternoon developed much uncertainty as to when the places would be started up, if at all.

When the places were raided a month ago and the proprietors held to the Grand-jury by Judge Murphy on charges of maintaining a gambling device, all the companies by which they were operated were dissolved. So wholesome was the lesson, that attempts to re-organize have been unsuccessful.

Chief Harrigan says he will not interfere with the places, in view of the Grand-jury's action.

Jesse Barr's Robbers Caught.

An all-around confidence game worker, named George Harris, was arrested yesterday for robbing Jesse Barr of 1219 Pine street of $720. Barr made the man's acquaintance June 11 and went with him to a room over a saloon on St. Charles street. He made a bet with Barr that he could unlock a lock which he, Harris, held in his hand. Barr bet and lost $11. Just then a third man came into the room and arrested Barr for gambling. He represented himself to be an officer and searched Barr in an alley, taking $700 from him. A warrant is out against Harris.

How Was He Shaved.

There was shaving at the St. Louis Club and at the City Jail last Sunday. At least one of the prisoners who had been blessed with a six months' growth of hair appeared minus his locks Sunday evening. Everybody was astonished. But where the razor and the shears came from that worked the transformation the prisoner would not tell. Jailer Wagner declares that he knows nothing of the shaved or unshaved condition of his prisoner and when asked to investigate he thought there was no use to do so.

Found Out It Was Loaded.

Henry Pinckney, colored, 9 years old, while playing with a loaded revolver in front of his residence, 641 Holly avenue, accidentally shot himself in the right thigh. The wound was pronounced not serious.

Broke Three Fingers.

While John Sodridge, colored, of 822 South Ewing avenue was watering his horse at the fountain at Adams street and Jefferson avenue an unknown man drove up and the shaft of his vehicle struck Sodridge on the right hand, breaking three of his fingers. No arrests.

Dr. Love Still in the City.

The announcement has been incorrectly made that Dr. I. N. Love has gone to Europe. Dr. Love is not out of town, and if he does go it will not be before the latter part of August, and then only for a very quick trip, he says.

Sneak Thief Nabbed.

Monday afternoon Mrs. Julia Dewith of 4139 Lee place, while passing the corner of Lee place and Lee avenue, dropped her pocket-book. Gus Reid, alias "Pap Haywood," walking close behind, snatched the pocket-book and ran down the street. He was arrested two hours later.

Laid Over to Wednesday.

The cases of Ora Gallini, alias Ora Lee, Edna Diamond and Aggie Woods, charged with enticing Blanche Spencer, alleged by her mother, Mrs. Hernlein, to be under age, was docketed in Judge Stephenson's court Tuesday. Owing to the absence of witnesses for the plaintiff, it was laid over until Wednesday.

SCRAPPING AT M'CARTHY'S.

Wm. McGrath Joined in and Now Wears Stitches in His Head.

William McGrath fell into the hands of the Amazons at Fourteenth and Clark avenue this morning. He says that he was going to call on Mrs. McCarthy, who lives where the fight took place. While on his way he met Paul Freeland, who warned him against going there, telling him that "scrapping" had been going on there all night. McGrath was not deterred by a little scrapping and he went. What followed is best told by himself:

"I went on to Mac's and I got to joshing Mrs. McCarthy. She made a raw crack and I just floored her, see? Well, her sister Alice, she comes out and says, 'Don't hit me sister.' Well I'd done hit her, and it was too late. Well, McCarthy comes along and I gets to axing him what kind of a woman his wife was anyway. He 'lowed he didn't care what she was. I told him she was intermittent with other men, and he said that was all right. Then I started to go, when some one soaked me."

"Was it McCarthy soaked you?" was asked.

"Naw, cos he knowed if he ever soaked me and I got wind of it that would be the end of McCarthy. No," (conclusively) "it couldn't er bin Mac."

He was "soaked;" there was not doubt about that Dr. Newcomb had to put a dozen stitches in a scalp wound which cut to the bone. The soaking looked as though it was done with a dull hatchet, as the scalp was both cut and torn. But this story was only one of three told by the wounded man, and he was delivered over to the police for further investigation.

McCarthy achieved notoriety some time ago by "soaking" a man at Twelfth and Locust, whom he caught in company with Mrs. McCarthy.

WERE NOT INSANE.

Mrs. Mathilda Janner and Julius Gath Released From the Asylum.

Mrs. Mathilda Janner and Julius Gath, who were sent to the Insane Asylum, after being detained for observation several days at the City Hospital, were released Monday. Dr. Runge, Superintendent of the Insane Asylum, said they were sane, at most harmlessly eccentric, and that a grave mistake had been made in committing them. Mrs. Janner is a religious enthusiast to the verge of eccentricity, but perfectly harmless. Gath was under treatment for physical illness at the hospital, when he refused to answer questions, and a melancholy and stolid manner led to his being placed under observation with the result as stated.

Dr. Runge reported the facts to Health Commissioner Starkloff, and the matter was discussed at yesterday's meeting of the Board of Health. Dr. Starkloff recommended that the Municipal Assembly be asked to make an appropriation for the erection of a detention ward for suspected insane cases, and that the Superintendent and the assistant physicians conduct the observations.

Dr. Sutter, Superintendent of the City Hospital, has no recollection of the cases in question, and thinks they were passed on before he took charge.

Jeremiah Fruin, the newly-appointed member of the Board from the Board of Police Commissioners, was at the meeting.

POOR MISSUSED MAN.

Beaten so by His Wife He Had Her Arrested.

David Blackburn of 800 East Broadway, East St. Louis, swore out warrants in Justice Gray's Court Monday for the arrest of his wife, Dora Blackburn, and Jennie Donaldson. The wife is charged with cruelly assaulting and beating her husband and Miss Donalson is alleged to have been guilty of disturbing Blackburn's peace in connection with the family fracas. Both ladies gave bond for appearance for trial.

GEORGE HAWES' HEAD.

It Was Stuck Out of a Car Window, With Disastrous Results.

George Hawes of Cincinnati will not stretch his neck out like a snapping turtle next time he rides in a caboose. He was on his way from Cincinnati to St. Louis on a B. & O. S. W. freight and when near the city, with his head away out of the window, something struck or he struck something. Anyhow, the blow slammed him back into the caboose unconscious. A friend took him to the Dispensary in a carriage. His injuries consisted of a severe scalp wound, seven inches long, a bad bruise and extremely painful, but not necessarily serious, internal injuries. Dr. Newcomb fixed him up and his friend took him away.

ALTON NEWS.

Wm. Machenburg, a farmer living on Missouri Point, met with a frightful accident Monday afternoon. He was oiling his reaper, when his horses started, and before they could be stopped one foot was cut off and the other nearly so, by the sickle of the reaper. Dr. W. A. Haskell of this city was called and attended the man's injuries.

Miss H. N. Haskell, Principal of Monticello Seminary, accompanied by Mrs. W. H. Reid, Chicago; Mrs. E. M. Evens, Miss G. G. Alden and Kate Armstrong of the Monticello faculty, Mr. Cassius M. Wicker of New York, Misses Lizzie and Kittie Haskell and Emma Watson of Alton, will sail from New York on July 3 for a three months' tour of Europe. Mr. Theo. C. Link of St. Louis will also be a member of the party.

The remains of the late Mrs. Hester A. Hall, who died Sunday afternoon at Granite City, will be brought to Alton to-day for burial and the services will be held at the home of Mr. Don Bryant, Upper Alton. The interment will be in the City Cemetery.

Agent L. T. Castle of the Big Four is receiving bids from Alton contractors for the building of the proposed new freight depot.

Mr. Wm. Eliot Smith is in New York City on business connected with the Alton street railroads.

Patrick Hackett of Alton was severely injured Monday at the Hunt-Loomis Ice Co.'s houses across the river. He fell on an ice hook and the blade was deeply imbedded in the calf of his leg. He was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital, where he received medical attendance.

The Berrington's new depot on Langdon street is now complete and has been opened for traffic.

Senator Chas. A. Herb of this city left Monday night for Springfield to attend the caucus of the Republican leaders at the Leland Hotel.

Miss Edith Garet of Kenosha, Wis., is the guest of Mrs. J. H. Yeger.

Mrs. J. H. Booth and daughter, Miss Annis, are spending the summer at Baltimore, Md.

Mrs. Charles Fairman left Monday for a visit with relatives at Lindenville, N. Y.

GOT IT IN COURT.

Frank Degnan Saved by the Milk of Human Kindness.

"Hand' me d' cow," quoth Frank Degnan at the breakfast table Monday. Mrs. Mary Dunnerman, with whom he was boarding, was unable to comprehend his meaning, but she understood it was a coarse method of expressing some phrase which the regular English grammatical rule had made a proper provision for and she became insulted. Degnan got mad and used profane language. Mrs. Dunnerman quietly left the dining-room and shortly afterwards returned with an officer, who introduced Degnan to Judge Stephenson Tuesday. Degnan explained that he wanted the cream pitcher, and as Mrs. Dunnerman's temper had subsided, he was discharged at her request.

Thrown From a Wagon.

At 2:30 a. m. Tuesday Lorenz Baumsmith, 47 years old, driving a load of vegetables, collided with another wagon in front of 5100 North Broadway. Baumsmith's horse ran away, throwing him out and dragging him about three blocks. He sustained several severe bruises and a bad scalp wound. He was sent to the City Hospital.

Hit Him With an Ax.

Monday night Will Bell, John Harris and Alice Jones, all colored, living at 1220 North Eighth street, got into a dispute. Bell knocked Harris down. Alice then picked up a hatchet and struck Bell on the head, inflicting a scalp wound about three inches long. The injured man was sent to the Dispensary and the other two arrested.

Died of His Injuries.

Bernard Noonan, a carpenter, 42 years old, who fell from a scaffold on a new house on Old Manchester road, last Friday, died of his injuries Tuesday morning at 3111 Clark avenue.

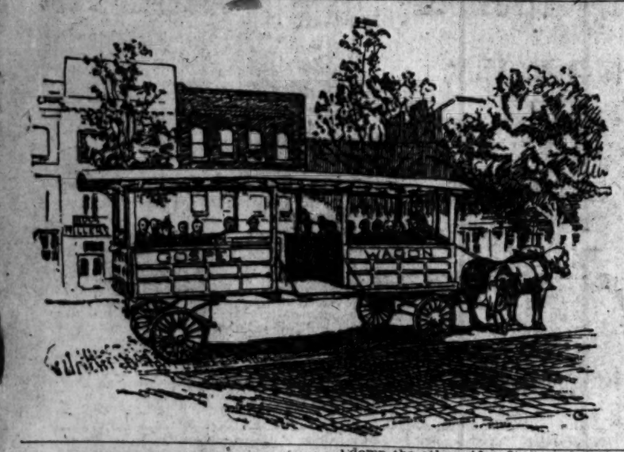

THE GOSPEL ON WHEELS.

Religion for People Who Don't Go to Church.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

In Washington, D. C., the "Gospel wagon" is the newest idea for prosecuting the war against sin and crime. This novel vehicle, which is really a small church on wheels, is 26 feet in length, 7 feet in width and will comfortably seat 33 people.

As may be seen in the picture, part of the panel on the right hand side of the wagon is cut through and works upward from the lower end on hinges. When this is on a level with the floor of the wagon it is held firmly in position by iron straps and constitutes the platform from which the preacher may address the assembled throng. On the opposite side of the wagon is another opening in the panel. When this is in use it falls to a level with the pavement and provides, on its inner side, four steps by which one may ascend and enter this fin de siecle chariot of the Lord. The roof is detached, so that in fair weather it may be removed. On hot days a canvas covering protects the heads of the worshipful from the sun's rays.

On the left hand side of the wagon and adjoining the pulpit platform is a handsome organ. The choir is an able one, and singing is an important feature. All the seats are made to fold so that space may be economized when necessary. A handsome pair of roan horses, donated by a wealthy sympathizer, draw the missionary wagon about the city.

This interesting traveling church has no pastor, but it makes up for this deficiency in the number of its congregations. Different preachers take charge of the services from day to day, each one going to a different section of the city. On Sunday, when the ordinary preachers are busy with their regular charges, some deacon officiates, and the wagon is usually drawn to some suburban locality where people congregate to keep cool.

But there is no part of Washington that this wagon does not penetrate. Those neighborhoods in which live the classes considered mostly in need of redemption are visited every day at a scheduled time. There is great interest in the services and the attendance is always good. The services usually last about half an hour.

Although the Gospel-wagon and its occupants have gone among the very roughest classes in Washington they have been treated with respect even by those from whom they had reason to expect ridicule, if not violence, and many persons ordinarily indifferent to religious services, became actually interested, with the result that frequent conversions have been made. The builders of the wagon have orders from several other cities for vehicles of similar structure, to be used for the same purpose.

The Wheel.

From the Indianapolis Journal.

"Do you really think that a bicycle is worth the money?"

"Worth the money?" said the quick-tempered man. "Why, mine has paid for itself in less than three months in the beautiful explanations it furnished for a black eye."

GETTING HIS MONEY'S WORTH.

But It Broke the Young Man All Up to Be Reminded of It.

From the New York Tribune.

The impecunious young man had been kept in the house by a cold, so he had actually managed to get together $10 on which there was no pressing claim.

"I ought to do something for that friend of my sister who is in town," he mused. "I haven't taken any notice of the card she sent. I wonder how I can square myself. Might take her to the theater. No, that won't do. Better make it a dinner. I can make the hour 7 o'clock, and say that we couldn't get to the theater without hurrying through dinner."

So the note explained how illness had prevented an earlier call, and closing with an invitation to dinner for the visitor and her aunt, was sent. The reply accepted the apology and the explanation.

On the appointed evening the three went to the new hotel which the young man had selected, because he had been told that the dinner on the American plan was extremely good and cost only $1.50.

The dinner was exceedingly pleasant, and two hours was spent in delightful conversation. Finally, coffee was served and drunk, and the waiter brought two checks. One was for wine, the other for the dinner.

The young man had been in some tight pinches before, but he was fairly overwhelmed when he saw the second check. Each dish that the party had eaten was stamped on it in red ink, with the price.

The horrible list ran down the entire face of the check, and two thirds of the way down the other side. It started:" Clams, 75 cents; soup, $1.20; pompano, $1.80," and went on, enumerating every vegetable, meat, dessert, and so on. The total must have been $15. Meantime the waiter stood solemnly by.

"What's the total?" finally asked the young man, after a delay that must have aroused his guests' curiosity.

"There it is," and the waiter pointed at some small figures at the top of the check. These said simply: "Three dinners, $4.50."

A sigh of relief got to the young man's lips, but was stifled there. The $10 bill was more than enough, but those few minutes (if it was minutes) of shock took the edge off the host's spirits.

He doesn't know yet what the itemized account was all about. Probably the hotel wanted to show how much it gave for $1.50.

A RARE OLD BOOK-WORM.

The Sixth in This Country Found Recently.

Written for the Post-Dispatch.

Felix Paltier, a bibliophile living on the Schenectady road, four miles from Albany, has discovered in an old book of English hymns a prize dear to every genuine book-lover—a bookworm. This is the fifth bookworm found in this country, of which there is any known record. It is a small white worm about three-eighths of an inch long and one-eighth of an inch in diameter. Its head is blunt, while its tail tapers to a sharp point. It is the color of water mixed with oatmeal. It lies motionless until disturbed when it raises itself suddenly, but almost instantly resumes its position buried in the pages. Protruding over the edge of the leaves and attached to the tail of the worm is a conical cocoon.

This cocoon when examined under the microscope appears to have six legs or leg cases, and the white medium line is barely perceptible on its under side. In the head of the worm are two fine horns thinner than silk thread. There are five rings around the tail. The structure of the shell of the cocoon is so thin that one can easily see through it.

Whether it is due to the undesirability of our American libraries considered from a gastronomical standpoint, or whether it is on account of the comparative youthfulness of the majority of our American books, the bookworm is almost unknown in the American bibliophilis family. W. E. Benjamin of New York found two worms in an old copy of Seneca two years ago, and John Erskine Pendergrass found one in an old copy of Chaucer a year ago. The Lippincotts, in Philadelphia, also found one, and Mr. Peltier's worm makes the fifth known to have been discovered in this country.

Concerning the destructive power of the bookworm, William Blades, an English writer, says: "A most destructive enemy of books has been the bookworm. I say 'has been' because, fortunately, his ravages in all civilized countries have been greatly restricted during the last fifty years. This is due partly to the increased reverence for antiquity, which has been universally developed; more, still, to the feeling of cupidity, which has caused all owners to take care of volumes which year by year become more valuable, and to some extent to the falling off in the production of edible books."

Another writer says that through the Dark Ages the Monks, who were the chief makers, as well as custodians of books, had no fear of the bookworm, for he loves not parchment, and at that time there was no paper. All writers on this subject agree that before the invention of typography rare and precious manuscripts were well preserved. But with the invention of the printing press, paper books were stowed away in musty corners and out-of-the-way places and left neglected.

In his accounts of the bookworm, Mr. Hooke calls it "a small, white, silver-shining worm or maggot, which I find much conversant among books and papers and supposed to be that which corrodes and eats holes through the leaves and covers. Its head appears big and blunt and its body tapers from it towards the tail smaller and smaller, being shaped almost like a carrot. It has two long horns before, which are straight and tapering towards the top, curiously winged or knobbed, and bristled much like the marsh mud called horse's tail. The hinder part is terminated with three tails, in every particular resembling the two longer horns that grow out of the head. The legs are scaled and hairy.

"This animal probably feeds upon the papers and covers of books and perforates them in small holes, finding, perhaps, a convenient nourishment in those husks of hemp and flax which have passed through so many scourings, washings, dressings and dryings as the parts of old paper necessarily have suffered. And, indeed, when I consider what a heap of sawdust or chips this little creature (which is one of the teeth of Time) conveys into its entrails, I cannot choose but remember and admire the excellent contrivance of nature in placing in animals such a fire as is continually supplied by the materials conveyed into the stomach and fomented by the billows of the lungs."

One result of the extensive adulteration of modern paper is that the worm will not touch it. Ringwalt's "Encyclopedia of Printing," published in Philadelphia, in 1871, says that the bookworm is a stranger there and is supposed to have been introduced into England in bag-leather binding from Holland. Mr. Peltier's bookworm is in an English hymnal, which came from England a century ago. It is of the anobium pertinax variety of worms.

THIS ROOM IS CUPID'S CHAMBER.

The Strange Possession of a Jersey Boarding House.

Special Correspondence Sunday Post-Dispatch.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Jersey, always prolific in things remarkable, has a remarkable boarding-house with a is known as "Cupid's Chamber." This room is what may be called a matrimony-inducer. Whoever occupies it, that is, if he is a man, inevitably falls captive to the chubby little winged God with the quiver full of love's arrows. The occult charm of the room is unfailing, and the matrimonial records of twenty years tell the story of twenty guileless bachelors who slept in that room, and later on left it to enter the dual state.

And none of them has ever regretted it, for all of the marriages have been happy ones. Many of them have been celebrated in the house of the mystic chamber, and the brides in these cases have been belles of the local village of Closter, where the boarding-house is prettily situated in a beautifully rural environment on the Hudson River, opposite Yonkers, and nineteen miles from New York.

The house is conducted by Mrs. Cornell Durie. She and her husband are an amiable and cheerful couple, well along in life, and they present a pleasing picture of domestic felicity, which is believed to have offered a powerful example to many an indifferent or vacillating swain. It only remained to place the hesitant young man in the third story back room, and the little winged God would do the rest.

Mrs. Durie was a Miss Rachel Remarest, and came of good old New Jersey stock. She was born and reared near her present home. Short, slender, with thin features and light gray eyes, she is ever-kind and considerate of others, and she stands towards her guests rather in the attitude of a house-mother than a landlady, a fact which accounts for the general air of cheerfulness in her house. She has two sons, both married, and both in former years occupants of the fateful bed-chamber. One of the sons is a village postmaster, and with his wife and baby, lives with the old couple. The other son lives in St. Louis.

The Durie boarding-house stands on one of the prettiest streets opposite the little brick railroad station, a two-story white frame dwelling with mansard roof, ample grounds, thickly grown with shrubbery, and a wide, old-fashioned porch, where a large, intelligent collie, Bess, keeps a watchful eye for tramps. There is a roomy hammock, indispensable adjunct of all up-to-date love makings; flower gardens and lawns and a tuneful host of robins and blackbirds, who seem to be never so merry as when a "new match is on."

The village is an ideal spot for the young or the old lover, and especially for the summer young man, whose spring-time fancy is lightly turned to thoughts of love. Closter is romantic, having beautiful Alpine hills and charming Hudson River pictures, picturesque drives and shadowy lanes. Swaying hammocks on the breezy lawns encoucing smiling summer girls, tennis courts and ice-cream parlors are other accessories of this nearby resort of ardent maids and men, and in such an atmosphere it is not strange that Mrs. Durie's boarding-house and its historic "Cupid's Chamber" finds fertile ground for the growth of the tender passion.

Two narrow flights of stairs, heavily carpeted, lead to the top of the house. A door to the right opens into "Cupid's Chamber." The room is about ten by fifteen feet, and has a sloping roof, through which two square, wide-silled windows are cut. These windows look out over the beautiful Jersey scenery, one commanding the hill scenery, the other the kitchen garden, and beyond it a group of houses and the railroad. The walls are hung with buff flowered paper, and the floor is a bright figured carpet with several soft rugs. The furniture is old-fashioned and of dark wood.

Bicycle Slang.

From the Lewiston Journal.

What a lot of slang verbiage has grown up out of the bicycle. The youth who talks boastfully and erratically is called down by the apt suggestion of the bicycle young woman with the remark: "Freddie, your lamp is out." The "road-hog" is borrowed from old New England nomenciature, but "scorching" is of the bicycle's own lingo, and means an undue haste in driving a wheel. The exhausted bicyclist on the road and needing refreshment suggests "let's stop here and pump up," referring to the fagged condition of the pneumatic. Bicycle girls are "bloomers," and "here comes my bloomer" is equivalent to here comes my girl. A policeman is "a header" and the cyclometer, is "the ticker." "He has lost his tire" is equivalent to "having tacks in your head" or "being off your trolley," and no doubt there is plenty more of the same.

About the Moon.

From the Home Journal.

The height of mountains on the moon is measured by the length of the shadows they cast upon the plains.

If you were on the moon, the earth would appear to be sixty-four times larger than the sun does to residents of this planet.

The moon is believed to be the only member of the planetary system that is wholly devoid of the least trace of an atmosphere.

It is estimated that the light of a full moon is at least 300,000 times weaker than sunlight when the "great orb of day" is standing at meridian.

Our moon weighs one-eightieth as much as the earth. No other satellite in the solar system exceeds one one-thousandth of the weight of its planet.

The 122,856 "craters" which have been discovered on the moon, and which have long been supposed to be extinct volcanic flues, are now believed to have been caused by a bombardment of aerolites.

The moon is not so small as some people have imagined. A recent astronomical calculation attributes to its surface an area fully as great as that of Africa and Australia combined.

The most powerful telescope now in use magnifies 2,000 diameters. As the moon is 240,000 miles from the earth, it is thus, to all intents and purposes, brought to within 120 miles of our world.

40 YEARS THE STANDARD.

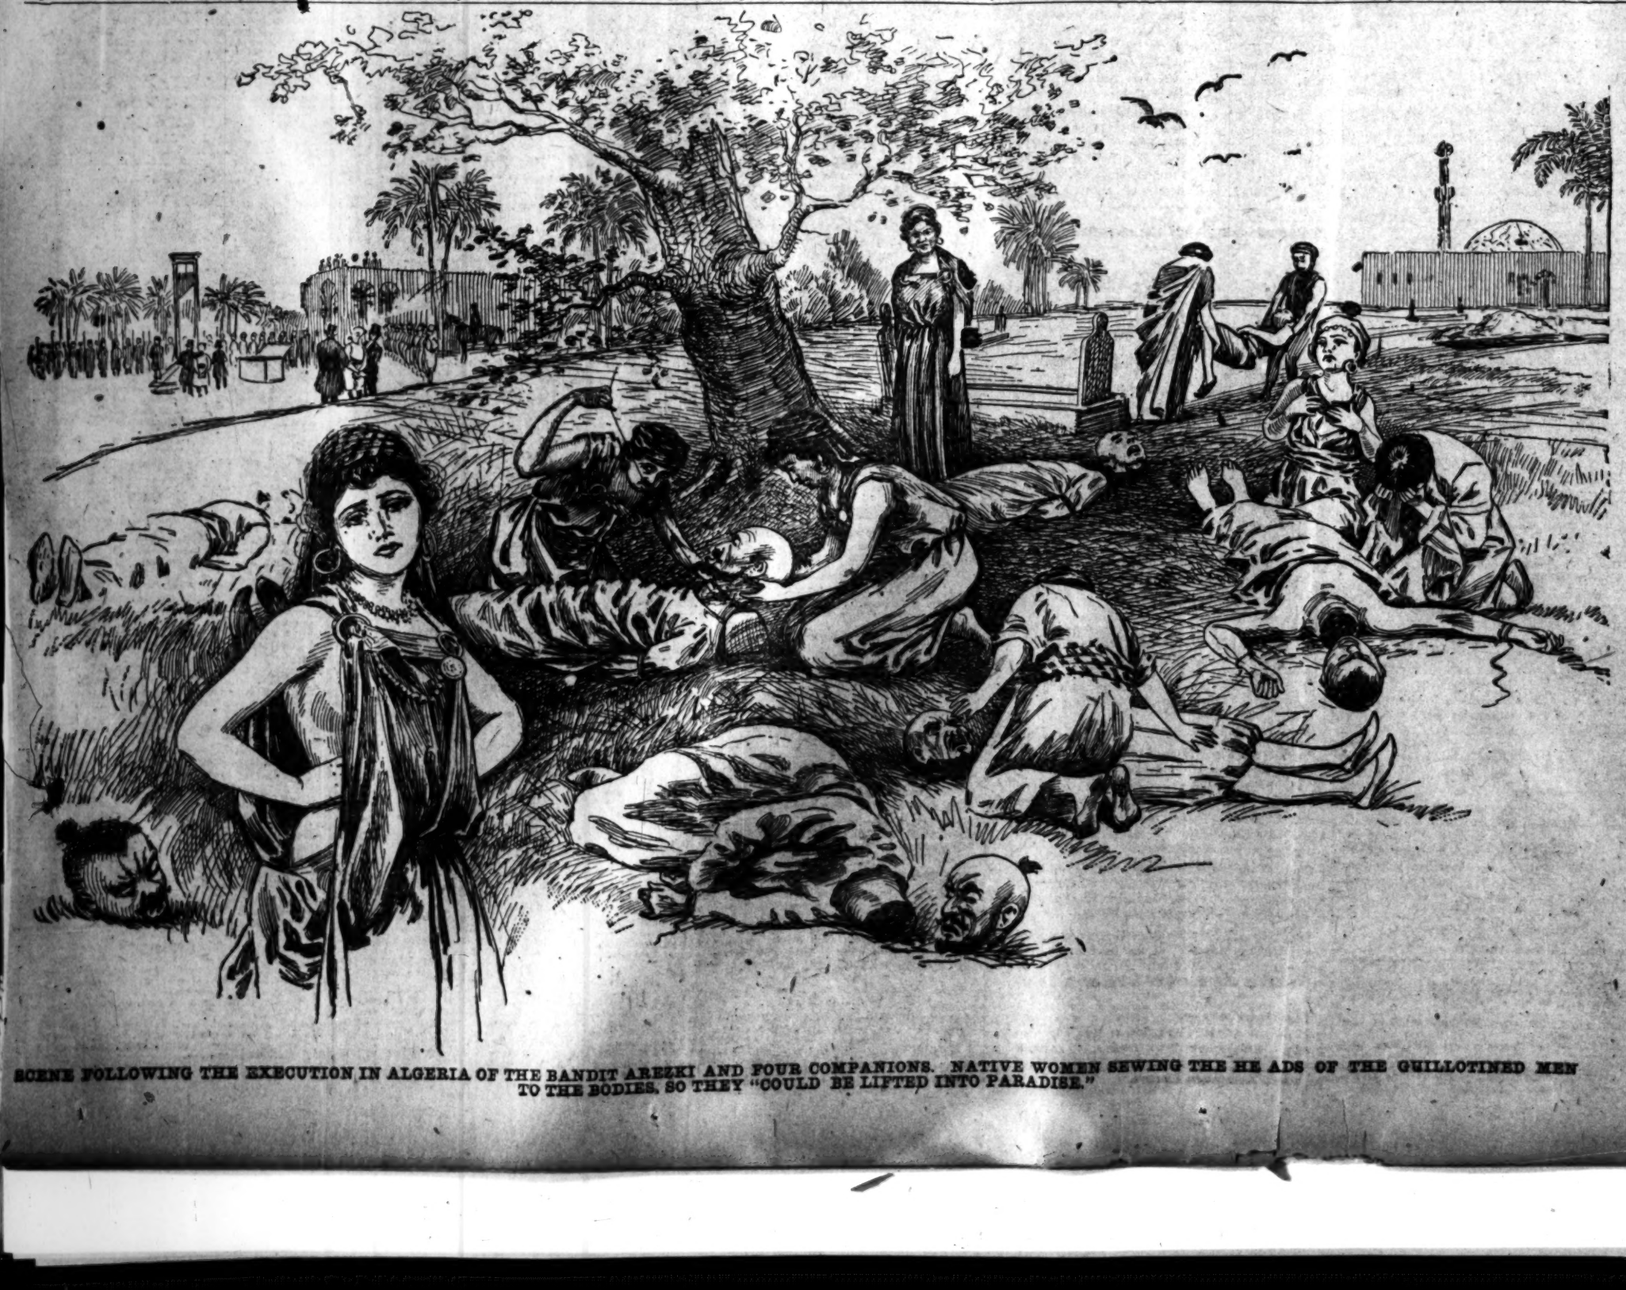

Slightly Behind the Times.

From the Syracuse Post.

He seated himself in a chair, picked up the morning paper and prepared to await his turn with the barber.

"Great Scott!" he exclaimed a few moments later, "if this don't beat me. Six inches of snow fell in Chicago last night. Why, it must have been 85 in the shade here yesterday. What an awful place the West must be!"

No one paid much attention to him, and he continued his reading. Just before the barber shook out the calico apron and called "Next!" the surprised one threw down the paper in disgust and again exclaimed: "Well, I'll be darned. That paper's two months old."

BILL WHITE RAN ON THREE LEGS.

Dade's Consistent Performer Will Not Race Again.

FELL AGAINST THE RAILS.

Was a Second Choice With Hush, at 4 to 1, and Got Away in Front.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

FAIR GROUNDS, ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 24.—A. B. Dade's consistent old horse Bill White by Sensation, dam Fiona, was either cut down or broke one of his hind legs in the first race here to-day. He was a second choice, with Hush at 4 to 1 each, and got away from the post first, as usual, but soon fell back and limped behind his field all the way around. After he got past the finishing post he hobbled on three legs to the jockey's paddock, and fell against the rail. He will hardly ever race again.

Green Morris' Dare Dollar, at evens, was a slight favorite over Schreiber's filly, Laura F., who closed at 6 to 5, in the first 2-year-old race. Laura F. was away from the post first, and she set a merry clip. Dare Dollar never got to her until they struck the stretch, and then it was too late, as he exhausted himself getting up, and Schreiber's filly had no trouble winning by two lengths. Dare Dollar beat Spinola eight lengths for second money.

Second race, 2-year-olds, nine-sixteenths of a mile—Laura F. 105 (C. Slaughter), 6 to 5, first; Dare Dollar 102 (J. Hill), even, second; Spinola 105 (Guiteres), 30 to 1, third. Time, :55¼. Madonna, Stella Williams, Hassie B. and Peep O' Day also ran.

Dan Honig's black filly Charm was the favorite at 3 to 2 and 8 to 5 in the first race and she justified the support of her backers by winning in handy style by two lengths from the 20 to 1 shot Revenue. Charm took up the running when Bill White fell back and led the rest of the way. High Test was second into the stretch. Then Revenue came from third place and beat High Test about two lengths for second money. A light Monday crowd was in attendance. The going was good.

First race, three-quarters of a mile—Charm 103 (Garner), 8 to 5, first; Revenue 101 (Thornton), 20 to 1, second; High Test 101 (F. Russel), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:16. Duckadoo, Kathleen, Hush, George L., Uncertainty, Dunlap, Geo. W. Bailey and Bill White also ran.

Maid Marion won some get-away money for the Kendall stable in the next race. She was backed at 2 to 5 and 1 to 3, and won by a head from Simmons in the fast time of 1:27 flat, the track record for seven-eighths of a mile. Maid Marion made the pace and had easy sailing until Simmons caught her around the turn. Down the stretch Simmons seemed to give her a good race, but when they went by the finishing line it was seen that Maid Marion had won by a good head easily. Nero was third, ten lengths behind the first two. Flora Thornton, who was expected to give Maid Marian an argument, was scratched.

Third race, seven-eighths of a mile—Maid Marian 100 (J. Gardner), 2 to 5, first; Simons 100 (Macklin), 5 to 2, second; Nero 102 (J. Hill), 30 to 1, third. Time, 1:27. David and Adjustor also ran.

Fourth race, seven-eighths of a mile—Miss Clark 109 (Scherer), 6 to 1, first; The Kitten 100 (C. Slaughter), even, second; Francis Pope 111½ (Mosby), 10 to 1, third. Time, 1:29. Golden Crown, John Hickey, Josie D. and Zoulika also ran.

Fifth race, one and one-quarter miles—Janus, first; Little George, second; E. H. Sherley, third. Time, 2:10¾.

FITZSIMMONS' TRIAL.

Two Jurors Accepted in the Trial for Con Riordan's Death.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., June 24.—Bob Fitzsimmons appeared in the Court of Sessions to-day to answer to the indictment charging him with the killing of Con Riordan, his sparring partner, in the course of an exhibition given in that city last winter.

When court adjourned at 12:30 o'clock, two jurors had been accepted, but they are subject to peremptory challenge. They are Frederick Reihlman, farmer, from Otisco, and John A. Robinson, farmer, from Pompeii.

At 3 o'clock but four jurors had been selected. The judge overruled a challenge for actual bias, made by the attorney for the defense, on the ground that the juror was a church member. It was also ruled that jurors prejudiced against prize fighting, unless such prejudice existed in this particular case, was not sufficient to disqualify.

The committee went into session at 3:30 o'clock, and at 5 o'clock had not adjourned. Indications point to an attorney being retained with instructions to sue.

CAIRO IS WORRIED.

Metropolis of the Illinois Egypt May Lose a Federal Office.

Cairo, the metropolis of the Illinois Egypt, is in throes of worry and excitement over the threatened removal of the United States Internal Revenue office of that district to East St. Louis. Politics is behind the scheme, it is claimed, and the citizens of Cairo will make a hot fight to have the office retained there.

Cairo is in the thirteenth collection district, and the United States Internal Revenue Collector at the present time is W. H. Murphy, whose home is at Pinckneyville, Ill. Collector Murphy, it appears, has quietly circulated a petition among the residents, in the northern end of the district more especially, asking that the office be located at East St. Louis, as a more convenient place. His petition has been sent to Secretary Carlisle for consideration.

But the citizens of Cairo have organized to fight the scheme from the start. Capt. W. P. Halliday, Capt. N. B. Thistlewood and Col. C. O. Patier have been appointed a citizens' committee to look after Cairo's interests.

The Cairoans claim that the best Government building to be found in Illinois is now located at Cairo, and that it would be a waste of funds to remove the internal revenue office from there to East St. Louis, which has no Government building. They also assert that Cairo is more conveniently located for the majority of the residents of the district as regards both rail and river transportation. It is pointed out that Pope and Hardin counties have no railroads, but at present they are within sixty miles of Cairo by water, but over 200 miles away from East St. Louis by the nearest railroad.

It is claimed that Democratic politics is cutting a big figure in the movement for removal. Cairo is in the Twenty-second Illinois Congressional District, which has a Republican majority of 3,500. East St. Louis is in the Twenty-first District, which is close and which the Democrats lost at the last election. The plan, it is said, is to remove the internal revenue office to East St. Louis in order that the prestige of a Government office and the credit of its location there by the Democrats may control a certain number of voters for the Democracy.

Ex-Congressman Forman, who is now in Washington, is supposed to be working for the removal of the office. Capt. Halladay of Cairo will go to Washington to look after Cairo's interests in the fight.

EMPTIED THE GUN.

Nicum Shoots Two Glass Blowers for Annoying His Daughters.

ANDERSON, Ind., June 24.—Lawson Barger and Daniel Duffy, two glass-blowers, this morning entered the yard of the Misses Nicum and began to make themselves obnoxious by teasing the girls. The girls' father heard the racket, raised a window and emptied both barrels of a shotgun into the bodies of Barger and Duffy. The men are seriously wounded. The gun exploded when it went off and Nicum was also injured. The whole crowd is in jail.

FOUND A REVOLVER.

And Then Put a Bullet in the Side of a Friend.

Fred Kipp, an employe of Chas. Schweickhardt at the Cottage in Forest Park, while cleaning up a room at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, found a 38-calibre revolver in a cigar box left by some unknown person. He began experimenting with it and pulled the trigger just as Ollie McKernan, a fellow-employe, entered the room. The bullet struck McKernan in the right side, dangerously wounding him. He was sent to the City Hospital in an ambulance and Kipp placed under arrest.

RECOVERY IN PRICES.

It Affects All Stocks With an International Market.

NEW YORK, June 24.—European houses bought some stocks to-day, presumably to cover contracts for the approaching London settlement. This movement very naturally startled the local interest similarly committed for the decline. The result was a recovery in prices affecting all stocks with an international market. In addition, reports from the grain country continued favorable. There was no great volume, however, either in foreign or domestic operations, and both were again wholly professional. Outside of this part of the market there were some signs of renewed attention to low priced specialties.

HOW WAR MAY BE ENDED

Test of the Most Powerful Projectile Yet Invented.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 24.—At Indian Head proving grounds on the Potomac this week the Ordnance Bureau of the Navy Department will make the first complete test of the most powerful projectile yet contrived for modern warfare. It is the Wheeler-Sterling armor-piercing projectile, and each of these enormous shells weighs 1,100 pounds. This is supposed to be the most terrible of all methods of warfare. The projectiles are 13 inches in diameter and about 2 feet long and have a conical head of chrome steel. They are supposed to pierce the toughest steel nickel armor to a depth of seven inches and then explode. There is no end to the havoc they will cause. One of them successfully shot is supposed to tear the biggest battleship to pieces. The projectiles carry sixty pounds of highly explosive powder in their heads.

The test arranged for this week is to be conducted under all conditions as nearly as possible as would exist in a naval engagement. A ship's inside in the fac simile of the Iowa has been built at the Navy Yard at Norfolk and sheathed with the armor plates to be used on this great battleship. This will be brought to Indian Head, and eight 1,100-pound projectiles will be fired into it from a distance of 3,000 yards, or more than one mile. Representatives of all the foreign powers will be present at the test.

INDICTMENTS FOUND.

Several True Bills Against New York's Alleged Fire Conspirators.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Three indictments were found by the Grand-jury this afternoon against alleged members of the gang of firebugs, whose operations were revealed to the police by Samuel Milch, a fire insurance agent last week. The men indicted are George W. Holt, Fire Insurance Adjuster; Koppel Friedland, the shirt manufacturer, who was a member of the firm of L. Cohen & Co., and Charles F. Lenz, the policeman who was formerly detailed for duty at the office of Fire Marshal Mitchell. All the indictments are for complicity in the incendiary fire of the shirt factory of Louis Gordon. Holt is indicted for arson in the second degree, Freedland in the third degree and Lenz for bribery in taking money to suppress his knowledge of the work of the firebugs.

An indictment was also found against Henry Cohen, a member of the firm of L. Cohen & Co., for complicity in the fire at 21 White street. It is expected that as a result of to-day's work before the Grand-jury bench warrants will be issued for the arrest of other insurance men, a number of clerks in the offices of different insurance adjusters and for at least one high insurance company official.

Important Question Settled.

From the London World.

It seems that the Duchess of Marlborough does not intend, after all, to call herself Lady William Beresford. She is acting strictly within her right, for although in law and at court she has ceased to be a peeress, the etiquette of society will sanction her claim to the style and precedence of a Duchess, if she chooses to retain them. The doubt seems to have arisen from the fact that on her presentation card, copied into the newspapers, she described herself as "Lady William Beresford," (formerly Duchess of Marlborough), the "formerly," equivalent to ci devant, clearly implying that she had ceased to be Duchess of Marlborough. I do not know when the custon of allowing the widows of peers, lords by courtesy, baronets and knights to continue the use of their titles after they have remarried with persons of lower degree originated. But it is distinctly unfair to those who are legally entitled to a place in the scale of precedence that they should be expected to give the pas to those who are not, or whose place in the scale of precedence is legally inferior to theirs. No title or rank which is not recognized at court ought properly to be recognized elsewhere, at all events to the prejudice of anybody whose title or rank is recognized at court.

PILGRIMAGE TO LOURDES.

The Pilgrims Will Sail From New York on July 10.

NEW YORK, June 25.—There will be another American pilgrimage to the shrine of Lourdes this year under the direction of the Fathers of Mercy. The pilgrimage will sail on the Red Star steamship Westmoreland on July 10, and will return in the middle of September. Mgr. Satolli has thus approved the pilgrimage:

"I learn with very great pleasure that the success which attended the pilgrimage made last year to Rome and to other European shrines has encouraged the Fathers of Mercy to undertake the organization and direction of a similar one this year. Surely nothing could be more desirable at this time than the reawakening of that spirit of lively faith which gave rise in centuries gone by to the pious custom of visiting these places made sacred by some special connection with the origin or growth of our holy religion. Last year the pilgrimage was composed of faithful from a restricted territory. I am glad that this year you have determined to make it more general. You have my best wishes for the success of the undertaking, and I am sure that you and all that co-operate with you will reap rich blessings."

Archbishop Corrigan in a letter to the Rev. Fr. Wm. Smith says: "The attraction offered to intending pilgrims is very great, and I trust that many Catholics will be able to take part in these religious exercises. A pilgrimage, devoutly made, to a distant shrine is a sublime act of faith. I congratulate you and your reverend companion on the prospect that our country will be well represented in this grand demonstration of Christian piety."

DESTROYING CHINCH BUGS.

Pettis County Farmers Use a Fungus Imported From Kansas.

Special to The Post-Dispatch.

SEDALIA, Mo., June 25.—Pettis County farmers are jubilant over what they claim is an infallible destroyer of the chinch bug. Farmers in this section, it seems, have no faith in the infected bugs sent out from the experiment station at Columbia, Mo. But recently Thomas Callis, one of the prominent farmers of Pettis County, living near Hughsville, sent to Lawrence, Kan., for a few specimens of the fungus propagated by Prof. W. C. Stevens, director of the experiment station of the Kansas State University. Mr. Callis received through the mail a small box containing three particles of the fungus no larger than pin heads. These were put in a box of moist earth, together with about a quart of bugs and a quantity of green oats for their food. On the second morning all the bugs were dead, and in the mass were numerous particles of the fungus. This was taken by Mr. Callis to his corn field, and minute portions were rubbed on the stalks where the bugs were mostly found. In three days wherever the infection had been placed could be found millions of bugs in heaps, all dead, and among them was fresh fungus which they had propagated. Mr. Callis has entirely reclaimed his corn field, and could have saved his wheat had it not been harvested.

MAKING GOOD TIMES.

Wages Increased and Prices Advanced by Many Manufacturers.

NEW YORK, June 25.—In an article on the return of good times, The World says the electric trade is overrun with orders, and that Eastern Pennsylvania and Western New Jersey strongly feel the revival.

The most notable instance of a wage increase is by Thomas Dolan, the great woolen goods manufacturer, who one year ago said that the Wilson bill meant ruin. His several thousand employes were given a 10 per cent increase recently over last years' wages and mills that have been idle for months are now running. Dolan was chief advisor of the Republican National Committee and is President of the Manufacturing Association of the United States.

Second in the field with an increase was another great Pennsylvania firm, Henry Disstons Sons Saw-works, where a 10 per cent rise in wages was given 2,500 men without a word of solicitation. The Pencoyed Iron-works increased its workingmen from 10 to 15 per cent. About 3,000 men are directly affected by this.

In the aggregate 100,000 men in and around Pittsburg have felt in a practical way the effect of the improvement in business, actual and prospective. A fact vouched for by the most trustworthy of the great iron and steel manufacturers of that city and its vicinity is that the workers have felt the return of good times sooner than have their employers, and the betterment of wages has been more the cause than the effect of general trade revival. They put it in this way: Prices were ruinously low and there was no hope of immediate advances unless some powerful reason therefor could be presented. It was determined to try the experiment of putting up wages and then advancing prices. The trial was made and proved more successful than anyone had expected.

From 10,000 to 12,000 people of Baltimore have had their wages raised from 5 to 15 per cent the last two months, and several thousand more have been promised an increase July 1. Two months ago nearly 5,000 garment makers, a third or more of the number being women, went on strike against the "sweating" system. After a struggle of several weeks they won their contest and also secured an increase of about 10 per cent in the price of their work.

CLEVELAND, O., June 25.—A special from Lorraine, O., to the Evening Post says: The Johnson Steel Co., posted notices of a 15 per cent increase in wages to the men in the converting mill, dry-house and machine shops, in all about two hundred. The men in the shape mill had their wages raised last week. The increase is voluntary on the part of the company. There will be an advance in all departments by July 1. The mill is rushed with orders and is running to its fullest capacity.

SOLID BOULDER OF SILVER.

Story From Arizona of a Remarkable Mineral Find.

HACKBERRY, A. T., June 25.—From Peach Springs comes the story of the finding of a nugget, or boulder rather, of pure silver, such as there has been no record of in the history of mining in the West. The boulder weighed about half a ton, and its value is anywhere from $8,000 to $10,000. It was found by William Tucker and John Doyle, both old prospectors, and they have kept the facts to themselves heretofore because of the chance that there was more silver where this lump came from, and they desired to get the best location for themselves before letting the rest of the world into the secret.

ONLY IN NEW FIELDS

Is an Increase in the Production of Petroleum Shown.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—Several notable features of the production of petroleum in the United States during 1894 are pointed out in the report of Special Agent Joseph D. Weeks of the United States Geological Survey. The principal features were the continued decline in production in the older fields, and the increase in the newer, and especially in California and the Lima (Indiana) fields, increase of consumption over production resulting in a heavy decline in stocks held at the wells, and the increase in price as compared with 1893.

The total value of the year's production was $35,522,095, or 72 cents a barrel, an increase in aggregate valuation of almost $7,000,000 over 1893.

GO IN TIME

To the Only McNichols.

Why do I want a home, you ask,
When lodging rooms are plenty;
Because I set myself this task
'Ere I was one and twenty.
Because no childhood can be fair,
No youthful time so pleasant,
As when at home you gather there
Joys of the past and present!

No little ones can shout and play
Freely at any other—
Give them a home, and right away,
So they shall reverence MOTHER.
As long as life with me shall last,
No matter what its portion;
My happy memories of the past
Shall claim my heart's devotion.

Let it be humble if it must,
But always clean and shining;
If ever you get this home on trust
Your cloud will have bright lining.
Raise up your children to respect
This sweet domestic altar;
Teach them all others to reject—
From duty not to falter.

It costs so little, too, my friend—
Much less than you've been thinking;
A sum put at each week's end,
Which others waste in drinking.
Go to M'NICHOL—he's the man—
With hand always extended;
He has with his instalment plan
So many souls befriended!

And what a boon and blessing it is! This generous system of small weekly payments. You need not buy inferior goods, nor let the world know of it. All is private and confidential. The goods embrace all Household wares and the best. Furniture, Carpets, Mattings, Bedding, Clocks, Lamps, Dishes, Pictures, odd pretty things, Folding Beds, Gas, Oil and Coal Stoves, Ranges, Refrigerators, Kitchen and Laundry Goods, etc., and baby carriages for the king of your home! Easy terms and midsummer prices.
